Identity

making a name for yourself

Different objects are used to identify a person by who they are and what they do. Each person is unique therefore different objects are used to identity their character. A person's identity describes their life and everything they do. It is what makes them who they are and different from the rest. Each student at Armijo is unique and identifies themselves in different ways. Students use different things and participate in various activities that relate with their interests and life style.

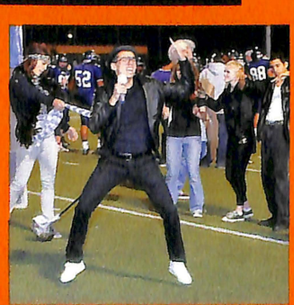

Entering Armijo high school all the students have a common goal of trying to find who they are as an individual in society. Once they have discovered their "identity" it will shape their future dreams and aspirations. Finding an identity and a name for yourself plays a significant role in the type of person you are and the future that lies ahead of you. The theme, "Identity: Making a name for yourself" will demonstrate the uniqueness and diversity there is around campus. By; Janelly Martinez Editor-in-chief

You Wish You Were an Indian!

WE'VE GOT SPIRIT

"HOW 'BOUT YOU?" Armijo has always had the good, the bad, and the ugly when it comes to sports. One thing that you can always count on when coming to any Armijo sports team event is that the spirit will be lively and students will be rooting for their teams no matter what the scoreboard reads. From the Friday morning spirit march, to the game that night, there is only one thing on peoples mind, Purple and gold. Some show their pride by painting their bodies, under school rules of course, and others show it by what they wear. The most spirited are invited to the Friday morning spirit march. This march includes the Armijo Superband, the mighty football team, the loud shouting cheerleaders, and the new and improved A-men. Our indian mascot Erika Ramirez 09' can also be seen dancing and hollering around during the spirit march. When the sun goes down, the spirit moves to the stands at the football games. Erika Ramirez and the A-men are seen, once again, leading the A-team section which glares with the purple and gold shirts. The A team can be heard, seen, and even felt with their yells, and beating of the mighty A drum!

The Price of Spirit...

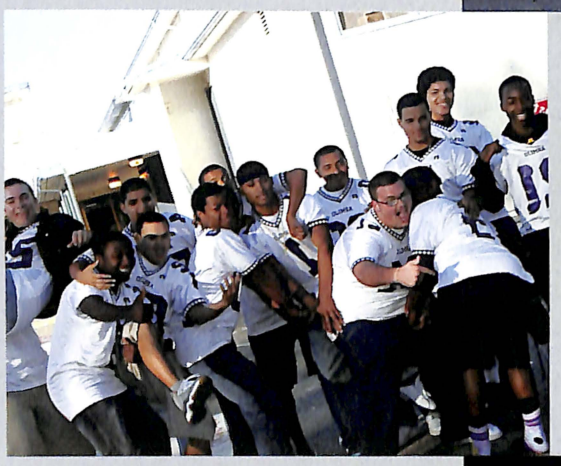

War Paint:	$15
A-Team Shirt:	$5
Game ticket:	$5
Winning The Game:	Priceless

Football players use the spirit march to get pumped up for the game that night. They march around campus wearing their jerseys and shouting their war chants showing all of the students what exactly they do.

The cheerleaders, with so much spirit, lead the football players in the spirit march cheering on the crowd for the upcoming game

No one appreciates the spirit march as much as the Seniors on the varsity football team. This is one experience that they will always remember long after high school.

The new and improved A-men strut in their costumes, sporting their sunglasses and their new A-drum. These are the seniors that you see leading the loudest section, the A-team, in the stands at every home game.

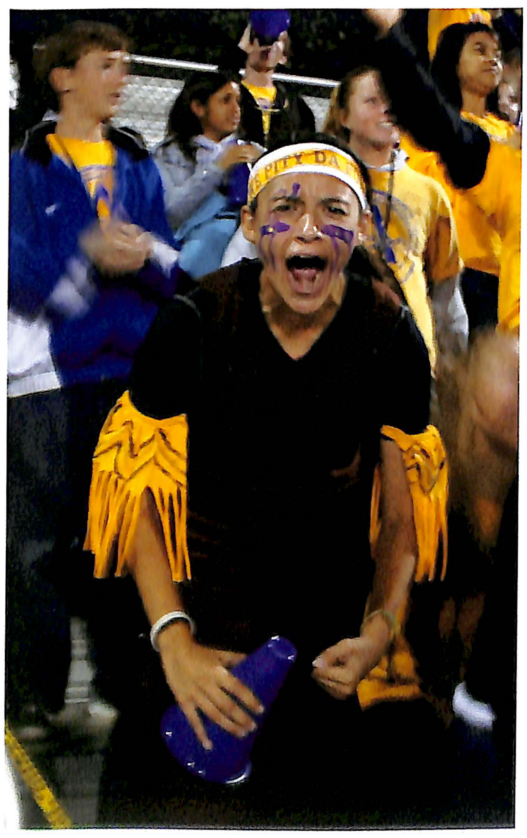

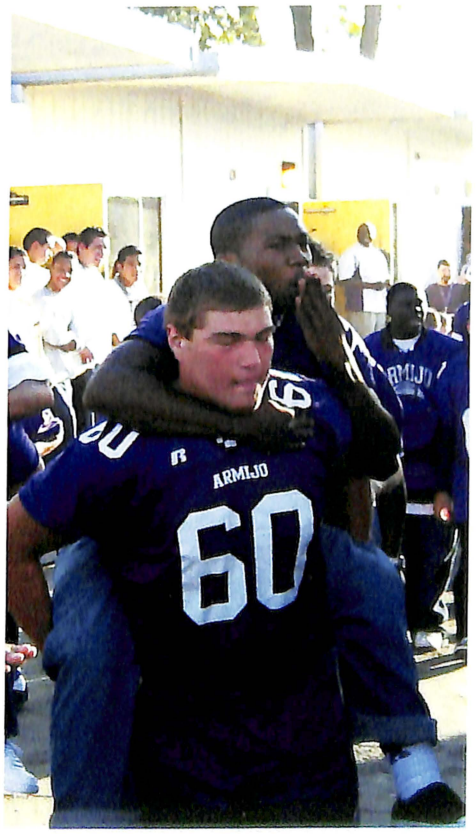

"AHS!" The Armijo guard leads the spirit march with their loud chants and fancy moves. The guard takes a lot of pride in taking lead of the spirit march. They are the first to be seen in the march.

The Faces of the march!

Ladies, if you're bored watching the Armijo football team smash on opponents, call Michael Hardy '09 of the A-men. He'll do what it takes to get you pumped and back into the game.

Blanca Rios '09, Yanell Sandoval '09, and Alexandra Luna '09, are not afraid to confess they are shopaholics. A little lighter in their wallets, the girls sit out of a store in the mall with their hands full of bags. "We love to shop and look good, plain and simple!" all the girls admitted.

[Left] Ashley Chevalier '10, is a young lady who knows a steal when she sees one, sporting a silver jacket she got at Kohls. Her matching flats and a t-shirt compliment the outfit very well. "I love fashion. It's not about brands or anything, it's an art. It expresses your individuality," she commented.
[Far Left] Dylan DeArman '11 is comfortable expressing his own style in his usual bright purple and orange sneakers. "I'm myself, and that's all that matters." Dylan stated.

"Did you hear. . .?!"

"LOOK AT THIS SALE!"

Fashion is a passion; plain and simple! Armijo High's fashion is as diverse as it's students. Each student is unique in his or her own way; whether they are sporting UGG boots, dying their hair wild colors, or just rockin' some sweats. The term Fashion is frequently used in a positive sense, as a synonym for glamour, beauty, and style. We have a lot of stylish people at Armijo, that's for sure! Exhibiting the latest trends and the hottest brands is what most students aspire to do. It's a goal; a lifestyle for most teens. Pictured in this story, Jesse Preciado '10 is an example of a creative but casual choice of clothing. When asked what he thought of posing for the camera, he replied, "It's cool. Never been chosen for the yearbook till now." He seemed genuinely pleased that people viewed him as a stylish student here at Armijo.

The Price of Fashion:

Popular skinny jeans:	$50
Stylish, chic t-shirt:	$25
Looking absolutely gorgeous:
Priceless!

Aundrea Berardi '09 makes sure that she spends her last year at Armijo in style as she rocks a zebra printed bag. While taking an urgent call, she exclaims, "My personal opinion about fashion is that I hate matching. I think you need to express who you are through your cloths. Aundrea loves to frequently shop at stores Christopher & Banks and Forever 21.

Taylor Gillepsie '09 is looking casual and stylish in a hollister and abercrombie designed outfit. "I had so many different leg warmers, I didn't know which to choose!" Taylor replied with a cheery smile.

Joey Benson '09, with his chromatic styled wardrobe, walks around campus catching the attention of many students. Joey enjoys the fact that he has most people wondering; what will he come to school wearing next?

Philip Rozul '10 is wearing a lime green and white striped shirt with green and white sneakers he bought in the Philippines. He goes to great lengths to make sure he never looks under dressed. "Folded In Hung is a store in the Philippines. I love to shop there, because no one has that kind of stuff here," stated Philip.

Berenice Garcia '11, is seen sporting this year's fad, skinny jeans and vans, that most students at Armijo wear around school. When asked what her favorite stores to shop at were, she replied, " PacSun and Hot Topic, most definitely."

The Most Fashionable!

[Top] Meghan Pence '10 has been collecting books since she was a little girl. "I love reading, it takes you to another world," she said excitedly. Her collection includes children books, Harry Potter, and Twilight.

[Top] You can find Post-its on secretary's desk, teachers' desk, or all over Stefanie Smart '09! "It's easy for my friends to buy me gifts, they go straight for the post-its, I just love them!" she exclaimed.

[Top] For Joe Joe Corral '09 and Melissa Herrera '09, Starbucks and Jamba Juice are a day-to-day necessity, rather than a time-to-time indulgence. Joe Joe's favorite smoothie is White Gummi Bear.

[Right] Dashawn Jackson '09 eats, sleeps, and breaths shoes...specifically Jordans. He has almost forty pairs and is proud of his collection. When asked about his obsession, he stated, "I just love Jordans. That's all I wear!"

[Below] Vitamin water was meant to quench thirst, but for Miranda Olivares '10 it has become a necessity. Every day you can see her walking around campus with a bottle in hand.

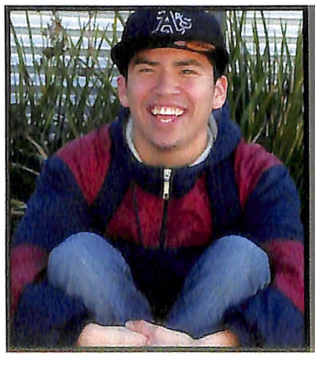

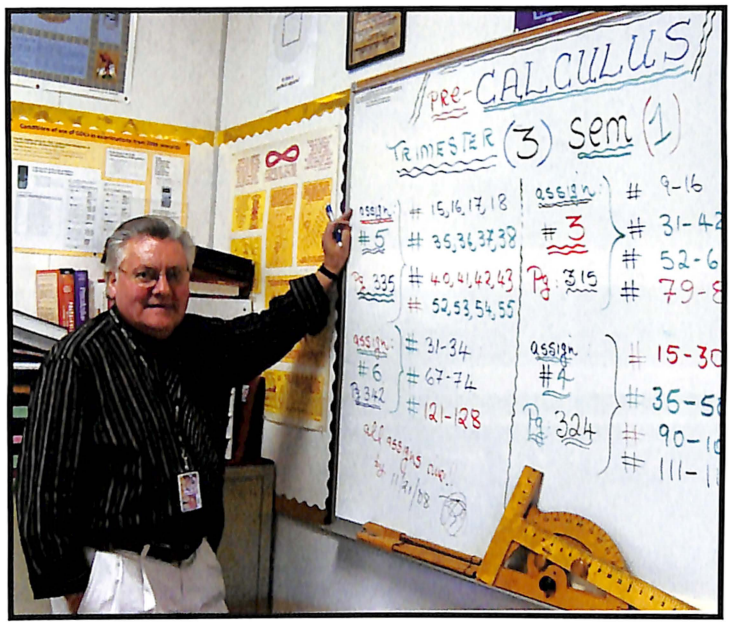

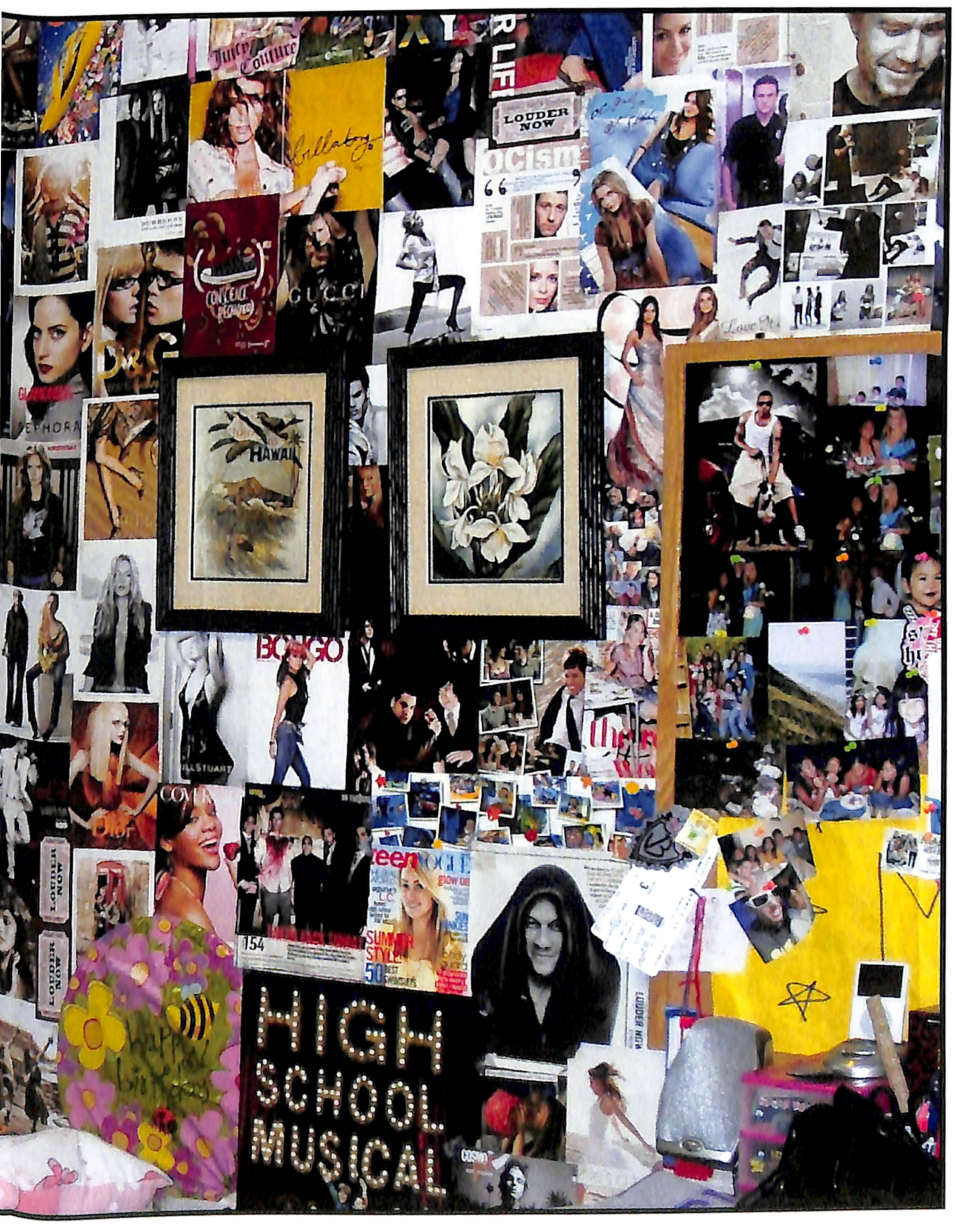

Texting is one of the most common obsessions amongst our student body. Fransisco Torres-Martinez '09 is always texting and he isn't ashamed of it. When asked how often he texts he replied, "I text all day every day."

Andrew Primer '09 likes to wear hats, and would buy a new one whenever he had money. Before he knew it, his closet was filled with hats of different styles and sizes. "I look weird without hats now," stated Andrew when asked why he loves his hats.

[Left] Mr. Molumby teaches rigorous courses such as IB Mathematics and AP Calculus. He is able to remain focused because he makes it a priority to clean his classroom often, organize, and color code his notes.
[Center] Monica Lostica '10 didn't settle for girly wall paper when she decided to decorate her room. She began cutting out her favorite pictures from magazines to decorate one of her walls a couple years ago, and now her entire room is covered in magazine clippings. "Most people just say Oh my Gosh! Whenever they see my room for the first time," explained Monica, "I just love my room!"

OBSESSIONS

Can't Get Enough!

What is an Obsession? Connie Jimenez '09 describes it as "something you cannot live without." Whether you realize it or not, everyone has an obsession. It can be looking into a mirror every chance you get or checking your horoscope daily. Many people are obsessive over something and don't even realize it, while others are well aware of it and choose to indulge.

The most common obsessions here on campus are the internet and texting. Everyday after school you can find numerous amount of Armijo students surfing the web or logged on their myspace or facebook accounts. Some students even log onto their myspace of facebook account at school because they cannot wait to check for new messages and comments.

"Obsessions can be either positive or negative. Most obsessions are positive, and they allow people to express themselves," stated Erica Ramirez '09. Other obsessions include clothes, shoes, make up, jewelry, video games, magazines, fast food, working out, and even studying. What's your obsession?

A group of Armijo seniors are kickin' it old school with their classic Vans. The shoes that were created in late 60's are now the hottest brand, appearing in a variety of colors and designs. Jenna Wilson '10 said she loves her Vans because "They be hip!"

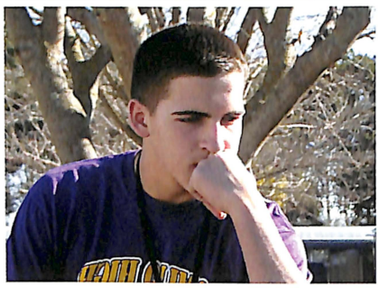

Rain or Shine you can find Kelcie Brenner '09 wearing one of her many pairs of sunglasses. Her shades range from different colors to shapes and sizes. When asked about the variety in her collection Kelcie answered, "I have so many because I like different styles. Hiding behind shades make me feel mysterious. It's a part of my style!"

[Below] Heather Evans '12, winner of the Thanksgiving pumpkin pie eating contest, really showed up the upper classmen boys when she ate consumed an entire pie.

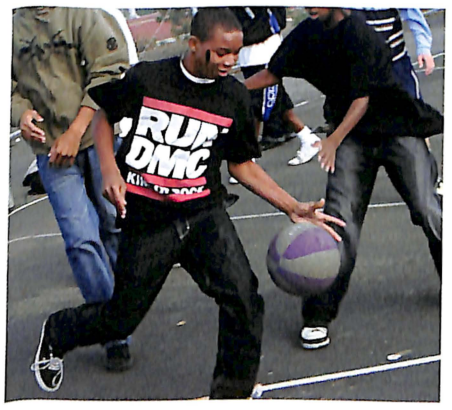

"Lunch is my favorite part of the school day. I love being out of class and having a good time with my friends," says Jade Blackburn '10. Jade and her friends gather at the same lunch table everyday to share each others company.

The Price of Lunchtime:

Pizza:	$2.50
Cookies:	$1.25
Gatorade:	$1.50
Making memories that will last a lifetime:	Priceless

As the bell rings at 12:06, students dash for the door to escape for their thirty minutes of freedom. Students spend their lunchtime in a variety of different ways on campus. Some socialize in the hallways while others hang out in classrooms with teachers. Some students catch up on homework in the library, stand in the long lunch lines for snacks and drinks, or go to club meetings. But, however students spend their lunchtime, it's almost always enjoyable. It is a great time to share stories with friends and make memories that will last a lifetime.

LUNCHTIME

Hungry anybody?

whatcha munchin' on?

When it's cold outside or too hot the cafeteria is a common spot to go to eat your lunch. The cafeteria has a big open space plus it's the place you can get your food hot and ready.

Alexis Rios '11, Ciara Magana '11, and Michelle Giron '11 chowed down on some nachos during lunch. They spend lunchtime together almost everyday.

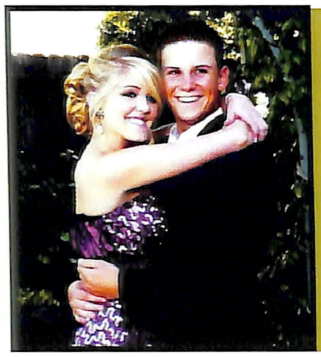

When the cafeteria is too full, outside in the quad area is a great place for students go. Students can get their hot lunch and just hang out outside of the cafeteria in case they forgot any condiments or utensils.

Its common to bring your friends cake on their birthday at school, but this group of friends took it to the extreme and had a cake fight!

During a lunch time activity on the day of the Powder Puff game, the boy cheerleaders got in touch with their feminine side and had their make up applied.

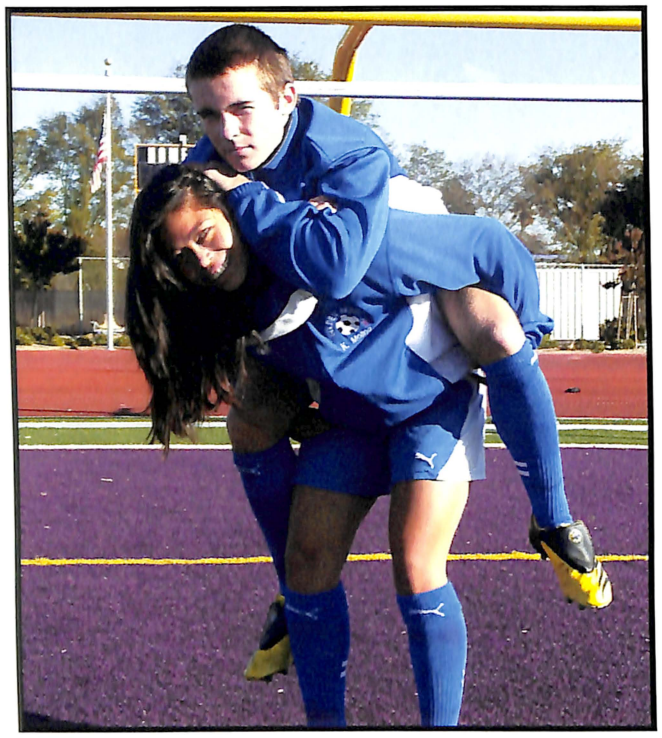

"When You Look Me in the Eyes" Throughout the first couple years of high school, Andrew Spiller '09 and Erica Dellenbach '09 had a crush on each other; however, it was never at the same time. After two years of "playing tag", these two finally expressed their feelings for each other and are enjoying spending their last year of high school together.

"I've Got you Babe" Zoraida Cortez '10 pays her boyfriend Justin Baugher '09 a visit before his shift begins at Jamba Juice. Justin enjoys having Zoraida around and he simply likes everything about her. These two fell quite hard for one another and if they aren't standing next to each other, then they are on the phone.

"You've Got a Friend in Me" Christian Molina '09 and Ryan Olson '09 became friends in the seventh grade, dated sophomore and junior year, and eventually decided to become friends in order to focus on sports and academics. "We've been able to remain so close because we connect and share the same interests," explains Ryan. No matter what happens in the future, Christian knows she will always have a bestie for life.

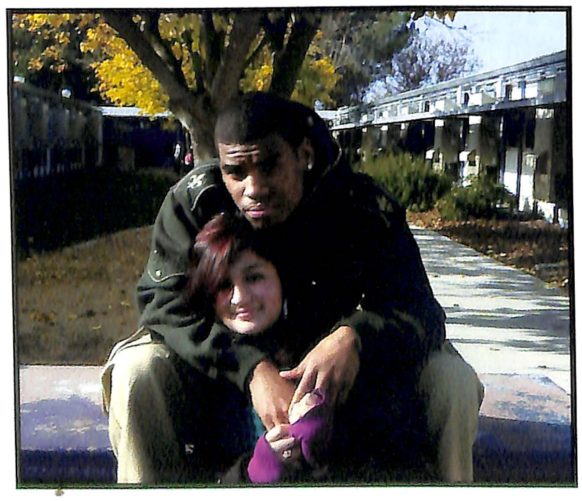

Jordan Dunn'09 and Sheila Olea '09 love being in each other's company.

[Top] Araceli Gil '09 and Bryce Murphy '09 enjoy spending time together at lunch. "I love her dimples," Bryce said before taking the picture.

[Right] Joseph Brock-Bensett '09 and Lindsey Howlett '09 take their love to the skate park. They enjoy skating together and just hanging out.

[Center]Taniah Clark and Lakendrick Mukes love showing their affection.

"Then Came You" As officers in Club 180 and devoted Christians, Travis De Luna '09 and Ixtel Gil '10 enjoy reading the bible together and strengthening their relationship together in Christ. Ixtel Gil is proud to have Travis by her side and says, "I was so happy to meet a guy like him, who shares my love for God and has such a desire to please him."

"A Thousand Miles" Though Megan Villanueva '09 and her boyfriend live miles apart, nothing can come between this power couple. Megan says the key to having a long distance relationship is love and trust. She admits that it's hard to see him once a month and she is still trying to adjust to his absence. However, her boyfriend Geoff Nunez, a freshman at Cal State Long Beach, makes sure to call her everyday.

LOVEBUG

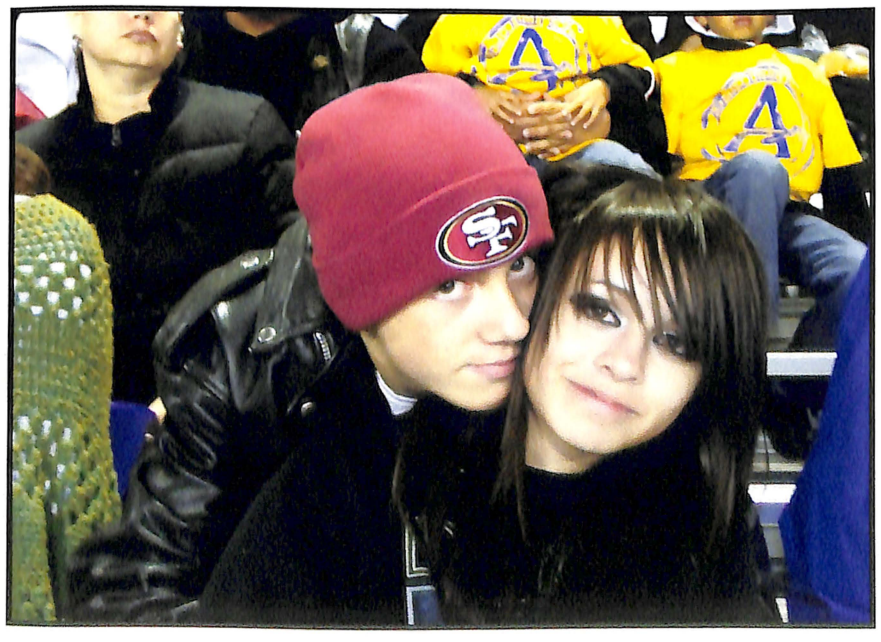

High School Lovin'

Your alarm goes off at 6:50 a.m. and just when you reach over to press the snooze button, that special someone pops into your head and you remember that there is someone that will be awaiting your arrival at school with open arms. So you eagerly get out of bed to get ready for a great day and another chance you have to spend time with your sweetheart. Sound familiar? Then you've been stung by the love bug! From holding hands during passing period to cuddling at lunch, any bystander on campus can definitely see that there is love in the air here at Armijo. "I think high school romance is adorable and it's cute to see two people that care about each other," explained Stephanie Diaz '09 while smiling.

How does all this lovey dovey stuff start anyway? Well many couples met through friends or in class. Sophomores Belinda Garcia '11 and Casey Towner '11 met in leadership and began dating a while after. Once you see someone you're interested in, Brian De Silva '09 said, "The next step is getting their letters (name)." Next comes exchanging numbers or nowadays Myspace/Facebook information, which may follow a long, in depth conversation. Senior Stephanie Oriarte '09 admitted that her and her boyfriend of two years would stay up all night and message each other over Myspace and text. If that works out, then it's off to the next date. A common first date amongst our student body is a coffee date at Starbucks, dinner at Red Robin, a trip to the movies, or a shopping trip at the mall. The first date can be awkward and uncomfortable, however if two people like each other then the feelings will be the same and a second date may be lurking around the corner.

Being in a relationship isn't always fun and games though, it does require some work. Jessica Aliganga '09, said in order to have a successful relationship ,"There needs to be trust and respect for each other. You have to really know that person and understand them and their personality. "Dating has become a hot topic here at Armijo. From the new time daters to the veterans, to the bad break up and the inevitable make up, we've seen it all... actually we think we've seen it all. However, every couple has a story and every romance is unique.

Lauren Noalscoa '11 and William Maher '11 keep each other warm at the first home football game. William describes his girlfriend as "Totally awesome!" They've been dating for two years now and Lauren has loved every moment of it. Playing video games and watching TV is a common activity for these two.

Reflecting upon themselves, Lizzy and Chelby Dillman '11 enjoy the twin bond they share.

Courtney '09 and Casey Sjoberg '10 jokingly throw their youngest sister Sydney '12 in the trash can. Courtney loves being the mom on campus.

Even though Brian deSilva '09 encouraged his younger brother Kevin '12 to join cross country and make new friends, he still manages to give him a hard time.

"When it comes to sports, I'm better at swimming and Josh '09 is better at running" says David Pineda. However it's easy to see that when it comes to their break dancing skills, they're both equally talented.

The Price of Having a Sibling:

Birthday and Christmas Presents: $50
Gas to drive your siblings everywhere during the week: $20
Having someone to lean on: Priceless

Through thick and thin, a brother or a sister is usually there for you to lean on. There is nowhere you need their support more than in the hallowed halls of your high school. If you're a younger sibling getting picked on and you're lucky enough to have a scary older sibling, you can always use them as a last resort to get you out of your predicament. Even if you are the older sibling, it doesn't hurt having someone you could go to for food, advice, or in most cases money. However having a brother or sister on campus isn't always fun and games. Sometimes siblings end up spending a little too much time together from the carcride to school, to after school activities that they may both be involved in, to life at home. But when it comes down to it, they would all agree that the benefits of sharing a school with a sibling outweigh the downfalls. "We fight about the stupidest little things all the time, but its never anything major" Jaime Martin '09 replied when asked if her and her younger sister Katie '12 ever bicker about anything. Whatever the issue may be, it is always comforting knowing that it will always be resolved in the end and in your time of need, you have someone you can count on.

It's All in the Family!

Both older siblings Ashley '09 and Melissa Letterman '10 seem to have some trouble carrying their baby brother Edward Letterman '12.

Christopher '10 and Candice Hatfield '12 both have each other to lean on being new to the school this year.

The sisterly love between Brittany '09 and Denee Dominguez '11 clearly shines through here.

Josh '09 and Matt Limneos '11 both take part in many school activities including track, cross country, and as shown here; Powder Puff.

Destiny Garcia 09' says, "Even though I'm shorter than both of my younger siblings Bianca '11 and Victor '12, I could still beat them up!"

The Price of Friendship:

Birthday Presents:	$20.00
Movie Tickets and Dinner:	$30.00
Friendship Rings:	&10.00
Laughs Shared:	Priceless

A best friend laughs at your jokes when they're not so good, and sympathizes with your problems when they're not so bad." -Arnold H. Glasgow Best Friends are the ones who are always there through the good and the bad. Because both situations occur often in everyday high school life, best friends are a necessity. Through the laughter and the tears they help you with catastrophes and broken nails. Senior Becky Esquivel '09 describes friendship as a very important thing in her life, "I don't know if I could survive without my best friends, they keep me sane in times that I really just want to scream." As you walk down each hallway and through the fire lane, your eyes wander to find that familiar smile staring right back at you. Friends express their relationship through so many unique and traditional ways. Best friends Emily Hames '10 and Nancy Lopez-Prado '10 share their friendship through a notebook full of inside jokes, unspoken secrets they needed to share with each other and a whole bunch of random symbols. "We have been through three notebooks now!" Emily exclaims. Friends can be seen attached at the hip or seem to live by the saying, "being best friends does not mean being inseparable, it means being separated and nothing changes." –Anonymous. But despite the different characteristics of a friendship each is as meaningful and important as the next.

BEST FRIENDS
Its a promise, not a label

Let Me Tell You 'Bout My Best Friend

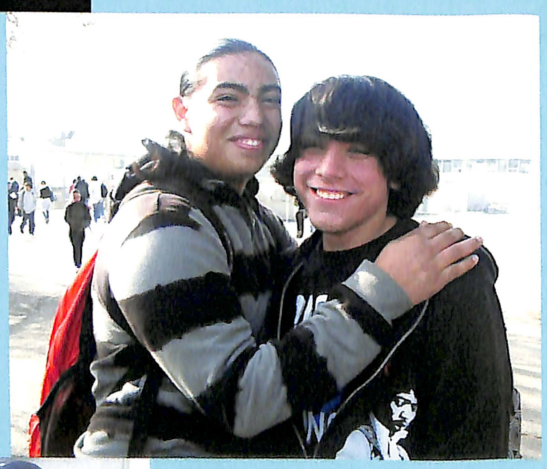

Seniors John Dodini '09, Jordan Jandreau '09, Ryan Olson '09 and Wilfred Manzano '09 have been friends ever since their days at Sullivan Middle School. The dedication to their friendship is tested when one member decided to join the Powder Puff cheerleading squad. However, the strength of the friendship was shown to be strong when they all decided to join.

Friends stick together through thick and thin. Erin Rye '10 and Bianca Garcia's '11 friendship is no exception. They help each other through everything from homework to annoying parents. They enjoy participating in sports together such as tennis and anything else they can think of. "I can't exactly remember when we started being friends but it feels like forever!" states Bianca.

Though Joe Martinelli '09 and Annabelle are known as a couple around campus, having a strong friendship is always a good base. They consider themselves to be best friends because they are always there for each other.

Best friends always have each other for support and have someone to lean on whenever there are issues or need advice about life or school. A best friend is there whenever you need them and are almost family. They know everything about you and are the best people to help you whenever you need it.

Having a big group of friends has various benefits to it. You always have someone to talk to, someone to hang out with and someone to go to when you need to talk. When one friend is busy you know you can go to another friend and they will be there for you. You will always have someone to go to and support you with everything you do.

[Far Left] Best friends Nancy Lopez-Prado '10 and Emily Hames '10 have been best friends throughout high school and have been there for each other whenever they needed it. During the fall season Emily waited two hours before Nancy got finished with tennis season in order to car pool together.

[Left] Hanging out through passing period, during lunch and after school was what Junior Samantha Vargas and her best friend during school [Bottom] Many best friends spend their lunches together in order to recap everything that has happened throughout the day and future weekend plans.

Becky Esquivel '09, Jessica DeFalco '09, Hayley Evans '09, Laura King '09, Hayley Hansen'09, and Ariana Barry '09 have been friends all four years of high school. They hang out every weekend and never have a dull moment. Laura King states, "I love all these girls to death, I really couldn't have asked for better friends."

Sophomore boys Chris Pittner '11 and Cordele Glass '11 dress to impress all the ladies watching on Halloween.

This set of "twins", Loni Loule and Crystal Rodriguez get into the school spirit by repping two Baskin Robbins shirts during spirit week.

A group of Seniors, Dani Zumpano, Erica Dellenbach, Taylor Jones, JoeJoe Corral, Krisha Agatap, and Stephanie Sobetski get all decked out in their Halloween costumes, ready for an exciting night. This year choosing to be Danity Kane and P. Diddy.

Even the teachers get excited for spirit week. Mr. Chapman gets into the Halloween spirit by scaring kids through his classroom window.

Marley Arias '11 and Lacey Dahlin '11 sport their crazy hair throughout the day. Lacey '11 says, "I love crazy hair day. My hairs already crazy so I can easily show my true colors."

We've got spirit, how about you?

We've got spirit yes we do...

SPIRIT WEEK

Spirit Week is a week that unites many Armijo students. We dress up to show our school spirit and just get a little crazy and have some fun. But it's not just getting dressed up. Armijo prides itself in also having lunchtime activities, rallies and anything else they can think of to get us all pumped up to win our homecoming game. The week of October 13th -17th got us in the mood for homecoming. To start the week off on Monday we had pink lady and greaser day. Everyone had lots of fun on Tuesday, they got all decked out for 80's workout day. Some even tried to have an aerobics class in the parking lot. Then on Wednesday everyone had to find a twin for Mary Kate and Ashley Day. "Twin day is the best day of spirit week, I love dressing like my best friend Kourt," says Caitlin Welsh '11. Afro Thunder Thursday everyone had some out of this world hair. Finally, Friday was purple and gold day to get us all wound up for our homecoming game that night. A few weeks later the school spirit and unique, scary, funny, and everything in between outfits are back with Halloween.

Can someone say King and Queen? The Senior Class Homecoming King and. Queen, Rockeish Mackenzie '09 and Karissa Chapman '09 smile bright just after the announcement that they had won. "I couldn't believe my ears! When I wasn't called for princess, I was sure I didn't win anything. But when they called out my name for queen, I almost shed a tear." -Karissa Chapman

"And our Senior Homecoming Queen is... Karissa Champan!" A roar of approval arose from the crowd and carried throughout out the field as Karissa picked up her dropped jaw from the floor. "I couldn't believe it! It's a dream come true!" she later said. Being just one of the 26 Nominees, there were mixed emotions among those who weren't lucky enough to come out on top. For many however, just being nominated and making it all the way to the final group was an incredible experience and more than enough for them. Stephanie Garcia '12 had her own difficult choice to make, "I couldn't decide what to wear, I was stuck between two dresses!" Roses, Crowns, Tiara's were given out to all the nominees, regardless of whether they won or not, but the clear favorite was the candy wreaths made by the Yearbook Class. "The candy wreaths were easily the best gift we received, I got my favorite Skittles!", Tyler Dunkin '12 later said. The big night went without a hitch, and was hopefully a wonderful experience for all, Congratulations to all the Winners and the Nominees as well.

The Floats!

Hard work and determination are just two of the qualities you need to make an awesome football homecoming float. With floats being a huge Armijo tradition, this year classes had to work hard to prove themselves worthy of the 1st place title. The theme this year was decades and each class had to choose which years they wanted. The Freshmen chose the 70's disco era, the Sophomores got the swinging 50's, the Juniors got the nifty 90's and the Senior class got the awesome 80's. All of the grades worked hard during late night practices trying to make their routine perfect for the big day.

The wait to perform was one of the longest. You could just feel the excitement. Everyone was ready to go and give it their all to show what they have been working long and hard on. The Freshmen class worked as hard as they could but they ended up coming in 4th place. It was their first year participating in the Homecoming floats but that didn't scare them away. "This was a great experience for all of us. We got to work together and preform in front of everyone. We might not have won but we'll be better next year!" said Nicole Cooper '12. Coming in at 3rd place was the Junior class with the 90's era. "I really liked preforming our skits and dances in front of everyone. I also really enjoyed dressing up!" said Michelle Dipasquale '10. The Sophomore class slid past the Juniors coming in at 2nd place. "I loved dancing in front of everyone. I just love the rush of preforming." Dakota Robarge '11.

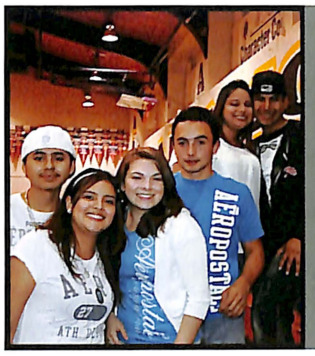

The class that came out on top was the Seniors of 2009! They incorporated many aspects of the 80's. From Aerosmith to Back To The Future; the Seniors had it all. "For the future classes, they need to have a lot of energy and be well rounded. Its not all about the dances or the backdrops. It all has to work together" stated Erika Dellenbach '09 about her advice for the classes next year.

"Sadies was fun going as a group date!" Christina Sandoval '09

SADIE HAWKINS

It's that time of year, that time when girls start planning for the perfect way to get a date to the dance. This isn't just any dance, this is Sadie Hawkins. This year is no exception the girls are going all out, doing it big, getting creative, just to get that special date. With so much on the line its no wonder the girls are extra careful in how they ask their date. Arielle Sumiling (10) worked up the nerve to ask her date and told me, " the day before I asked him, I talked to his first period teacher if I could ask him on their daily journal entry. Since he had Spanish first period it was in Spanish. The next day in class I waited for my queue and she put the overhead on and I walked in with a cupcake and a rose." In the end everyone seemed to have a good time and the night ended in success.

As the night continued more and more people started to pile onto the dance floor. We can see the party starting to take shape.

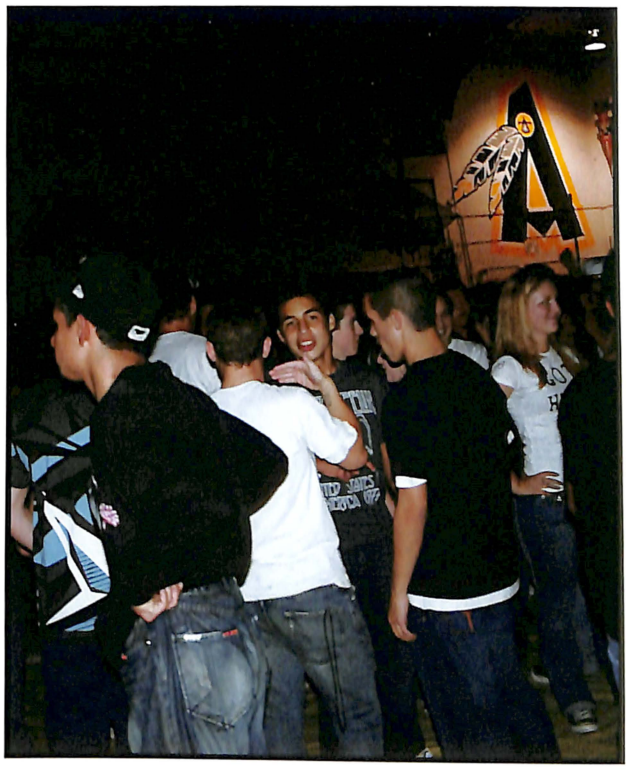

"We really wanted our outfits to stand out so we came as sailors." Daniel Zumpano '09

When your asked by more than one, expand and go with two!

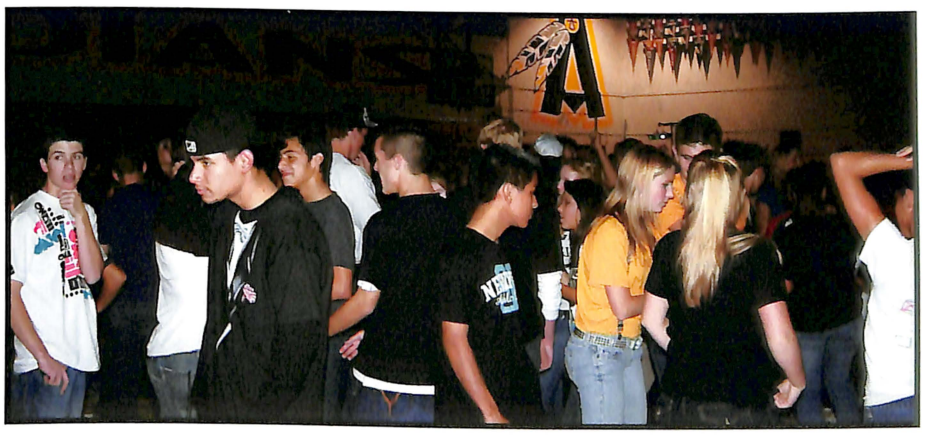

The big people pleaser of the night was towards the end of the night when the DJ played "YMCA." Everyone ran to the bleachers to do the timeless dance.

(BELOW) No matter who the dancer and their abilities, everyone knows their two step to keep them moving. People also enjoyed time to socialize and take pictures.

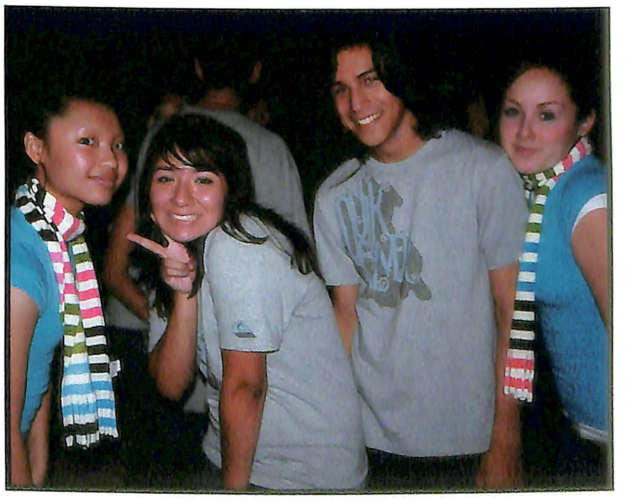

Things started to slow down, and this couple decided to share this slow dance. They really stand out compared to all the other dancers.

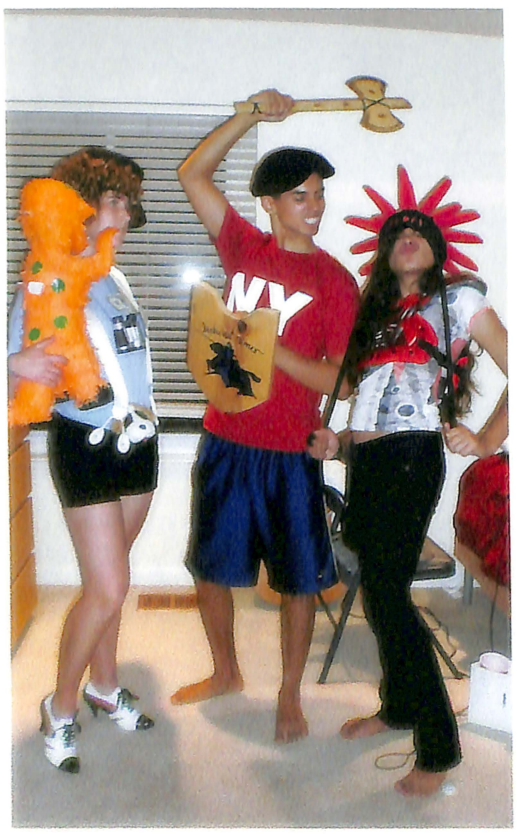

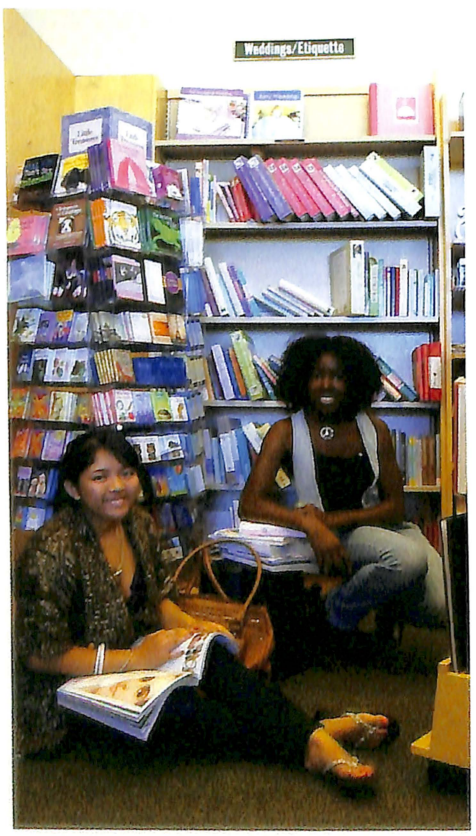

It seems that it was girls night for most ladies, and they were were livin' it up at the dance.

All throughout the dance it was clear to see people and their dates with their matching outfits.

At the beginning of the year, the senior leadership planned a bonding night at the Dixon corn maze in order to get to know one and another and start off the year on the right foot.

[Far Left]: With very little things to do in the small town of Fairfield, Seniors Lauren Davini, Joe Joe Corral and Dani Zumpano get creative and spend the night dressing up with an assortment of costumes.
[Left] If you need a quiet place to just relax and hang out a book store is the place to go. Cayla Gales '09 and Johnalyn Lubugui '09 go to Barnes and Noble to catch up on the latest magazines or check up on the new books that have been released. Book stores offer comfy chairs and coffee to make the experience as relaxing as possible.

[Above] On Friday nights and weekends when there is no football game or place to go students get creative and just hang out with friends. "I usually just kick it with my friends and we find something interesting to do," says Amanda Welch '11.

Wanna hang out?

Night Life

Friday night football games, Dollar Scoop Tuesdays at Baskin Robin, and In-n-Out are all popular places to go after school hours for students. Some students relax and hang out with friends and family at night while others work or play sports. During the week most nights are mellow, catching up on television shows, doing homework, and relaxing after a long day at school. Then when the weekend rolls around, everything changes. Student have get togethers, go to movies, have sleepovers or just stay out late enjoying every minute of their night.

The Price of a night out:

Gas Money:	$35.00
Toilet paper, Plastic forks, Shaving cream	$26.00
2am Taco Bell run	&7.00
Getting home too late:	Priceless

Stars in Vacaville is a common place for friends to gather after a football game or during the weekends. The Vacaville bowling alley is opened until past midnight which works out great if there is nothing else to do late at night.

At a Sweet 16 birthday party German stud Henry Stemmler '10 was surrounded by girls all night long. He was without a doubt getting more attention than the birthday girl herself.

Tyler Hayes '10 drives around town to see what fun he and his friends can have on a quiet Saturday night. When no plan is set, just driving around town is what students do, hoping to find something to keep them entertained and busy.

Not only does the Armijo guard work and practice together at school they spend time outside of school to perform in competitions and sweepstakes, attend formal gatherings and just hang out. All the students in guard have a great bond together and spend a lot of their free time making memories that will last forever.

Sisters Sheri Ann Dumlao '09 and Kimberly '12 two of the Jonas' brothers biggest fans had a great time singing along with the group of boys during their concert. "The Jonas brothers concert was the best experience of my life! They were amazing" stated Kimberly excitedly.

No school? What is there to do?

It's not extreme if it's not dodgeball!

EXTREME SPORTS

Although it's not shown in this picture, backflips, front flips, and an assortment of different grabs are in Jake Perata's '10 arsenal of tricks while on the wakeboard.

Always being spotted on the mountains of Tahoe, Erica Ramirez '09 can be seen often riding through the beautiful terrain at Heavenly or even smashing through the park at Northstar.

Kaysi Wheeler '11 is glad she's a tough soccer player otherwise she probably wouldn't have the strength to hold on to this raft. Kaysi and her family took a vacation last summer where they went white water rafting. When we asked Kaysi about her experience she replied, "It was scary but in the end i was proud that I overcame my fear."

Riding dirt bikes is said to be a mans sport but Sophomore Caitlyn Lee '11 totally disagrees with that statement as she shreds around the track at argyle.

Hitting the waves is an activity that senior Amy Bergam '09 enjoys whenever she is free from school work, band and sports. Surfing is a sport that takes patience and lots of practice to master two quality that Amy possesses leading to her success.

EXTREME!!!

What really makes a sport fall under the category of being extreme? What is it that drives some to embrace extremes risks in sports, while the rest of us run for the sidelines. According to Jacob Stykel '09 "The high element of risk that makes me feel alive, tests what I'm made of and how far I'm willing to take myself." You can always see Stykel '09 riding mile long wheelies down the streets of Dover.

Could it be the fear that drives many people away from the risks of extreme sports may be the same element that keeps other coming back for more? One might say that the ability to let your guard down and just forget about the fear factor is what allows them to participate in the sports that fall under the category extreme. With so many new extreme sports such as: Paintball, Snowboarding, Rock climbing, Mountain biking, and Hang gliding, who knows, next year walking on water might be the new extreme sport that has people flocking towards it.

Zach Braida '10 and Irfan Mohammed '10 seized the opportunity to wear the cheerleaders skimpy clothing and show off their feminine side.

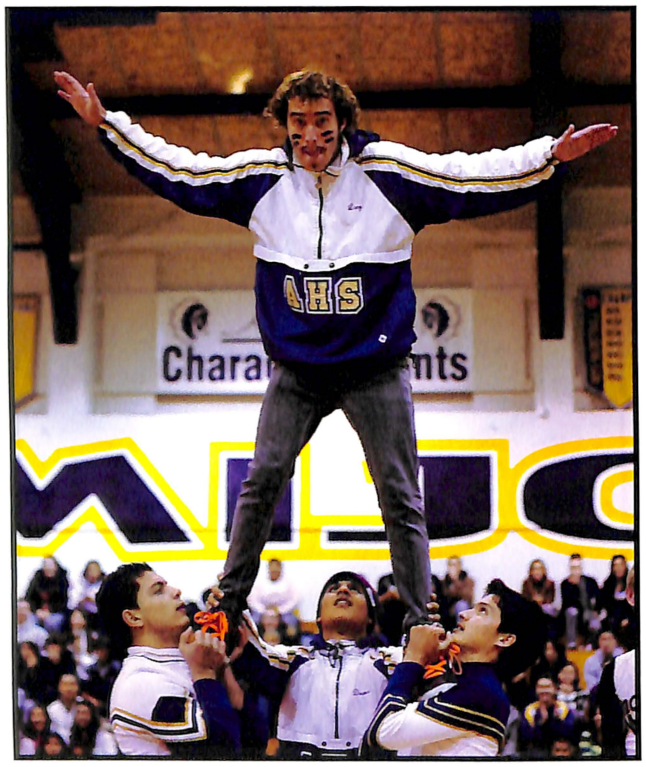

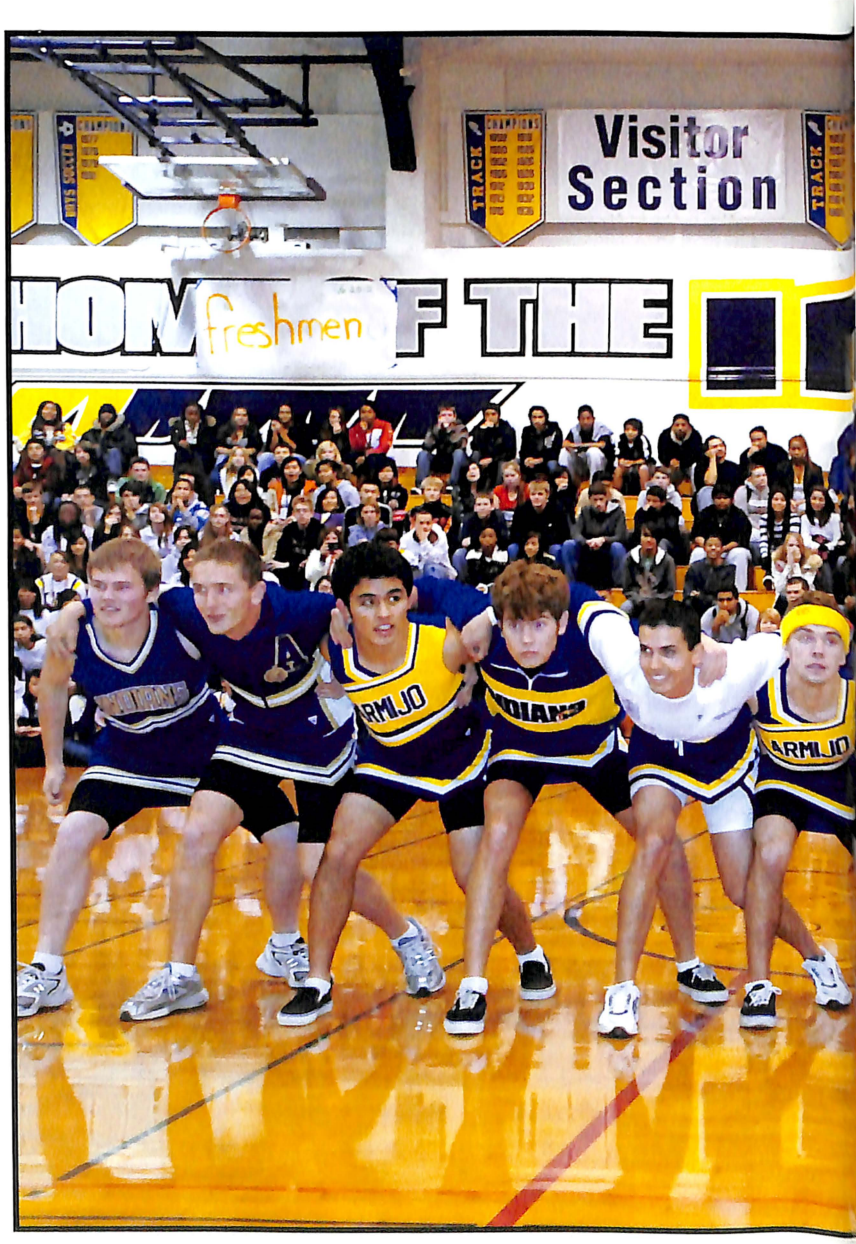

Christian Molina '09 gets her team ready by stretching them out before the game. " I knew they were going to play hard, but we were confident that we could win," said Molina.

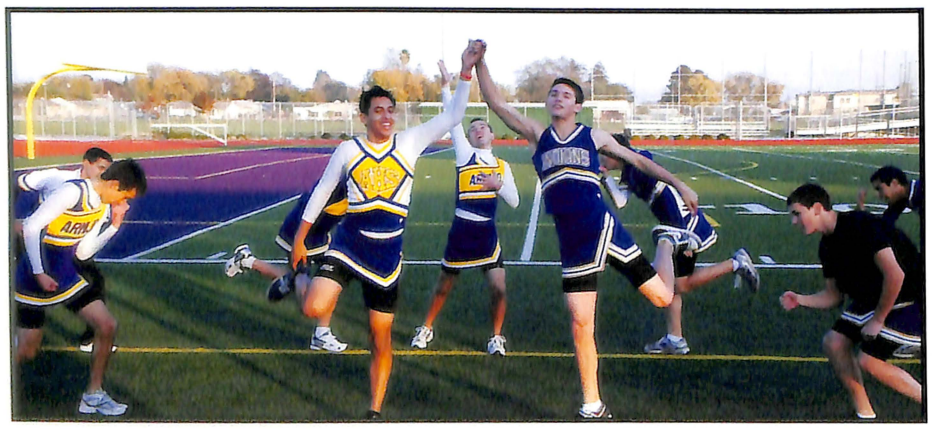

Even though it was there first powderpuff performance, the freshmen showed that they were not afraid to "shake their money makers."

Powderpuff

Trading Places

What is it that people love about Powderpuff? Is it the girls playing football or is it the boys in their cheerleading uniforms? Whatever it is, it makes Powderpuff one of the most entertaining activities of the year. Players and cheerleaders put in many hours of work before game night to show which class is superior, and most would say it is well worth it. "Practices were almost as fun as the game, especially when we just got to play around," said senior Kelcie Brenner who enjoyed spending time with her classmates outside of school. In the J.V. game the sophomores picked up their first Powderpuff win while the seniors maintained their perfect record as they won for the fourth straight year. However, whether they won or lost, each person involved enjoyed trading places to make this different, but entertaining, event a success.

lovely ladies we had the honor of having Jessica Aliganga '09, Aundrea Berardi '09, Amy Bergam '09, Jessica Cry '09, Erica Ramirez '09, and Betsy Velasco '09. Unfortunately, not everyone could win. Even if they were not crowned they were still winners in our eyes. However, the ones who were crowned for the Freshmen were Stephen Yoo '12 and Adhiti Nararyanan '12. Our Sophomores were Sean Kardos '11 and Lizzy Dilman '11, Juniors were Janella Leano '10 and Michael Lavell '10. The prince and princess for the Seniors was Jeremy Banks '09 and Jessica Aliganga '09; And for our Basketball Homecoming King and Queen, Jake Roberts '09 and the beautiful Erica Ramirez '09. Congratulations to everyone!

And the King and Queen are...

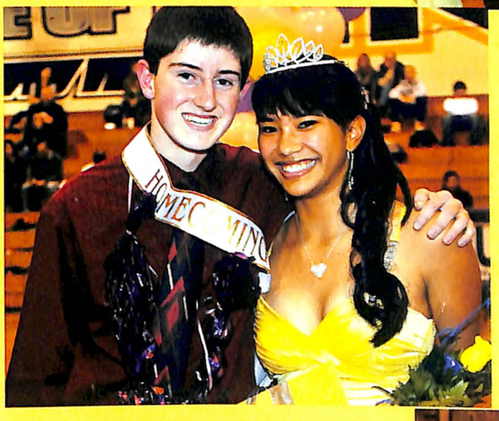

The Court!

Our Homecoming Prince Jeremy Banks '09 with the Homecoming Princess Jessica Aliganga '09. They both have the friends, and the crown what more could they ask for?

All hale the Homecoming King and Queen Jake Roberts '09 And Erica Ramirez '09 smile for a picture after being crowned each looking stunning on a night they will never forget.

Over to the left is the stunning Homecoming prince and Princess, Micheal Lavell '10 and Janella Leano '10 of the junior class They are both very worthy of wearing the crown that night.

The Sophomore prince, Sean Kardos '11 and Princess, Lizzy Dillman '11 are gladly smiling after being crowned "This is something that I will never forget" quoted Dillman when asked how she felt that night.

Freshman heartthrobs Stephen Yoo '12 and Adhiti Nararyanan '12 pose just after taking the titles.

The Freshmen class show off their tango skills as they dance the night away in the city of Chicago.

Our favorite boys, The T-Birds, sing about their awesome new car, The Grease Lightning. "Go Grease Lightning!"

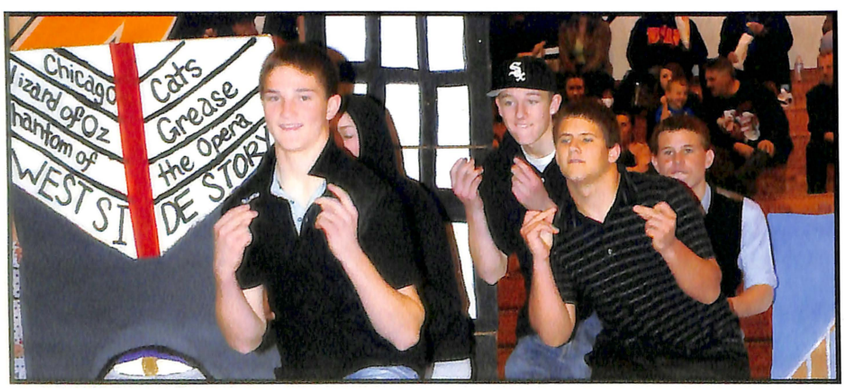

From lions to faries and break dancing munchkins, the Juniors showed us there really is no place like home.

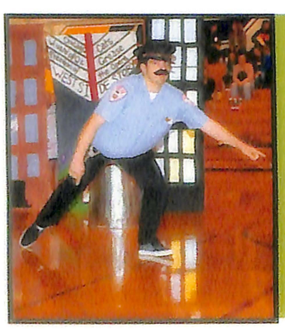

They're off to see the wizard! As the Tin Man, James Avant '10, the scare crow, Zach Braida '10, Dorothy, Christine Finnigan '10, and the lion, Gabby Avalos '10, travel on their long journey down the yellow brick road.

Coming out to show their stuff, the Sophomore boys portray one of the rival gangs in West Side Story.

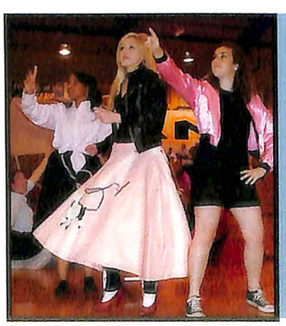

With gangs getting rowdy in the Sophomores performance, there luckily was a trusty police officer around to save the day!

Sandy, portrayed by Erica Dellenbach '09, and her fellow Pink Ladies, played by Karissa Chapmen '09 and Stephanie Diaz '09, told the boys "Don't mess with us!"

With their love story one of the main events of the evening, Sarah Moraida '11, and Wilson Hull '11, showed us that true love can happen; even when no one else wants it to. "I was in ballet for 8 years so I was so use to preforming infront of large audiences. I especially loved when Wilson and I danced to 'Fall For You.' It was my favorite dance." Stated Moraida '11.

Dancing to "shape up" Erica Dellenbach '09 and Joe-Joe Corral '09 have a lot of on stage chemistry.

Basketball Homecoming Floats

The Real High School Musical

Who doesn't love busting out in song and dance? No I'm not talking about High School Musical. I'm talking about this years Basketball Homecoming floats. With this years theme being musicals there will be plenty of singing and dancing.

Each of the grades this year joined together to choose which musical they would be re-enacting. The Freshmen decided on the musical Chicago. "My most memorable moment was one day at practice we spilled paint on the driveway and spent two hours cleaning it off!" stated Daniel Flinders '12.

The Sophomore class chose the old time favorite, West Side Story. From fighting to romance, they had it all.

The Juniors included a lion, a tin man, a scare crow and a pair of red slippers. Can you guess what they decided to act out?

Finally, the Seniors chose the all time, old school favorite, Grease. With Sandy, Danny, The Pink Ladies and the T-Birds it was sure a swell performance.

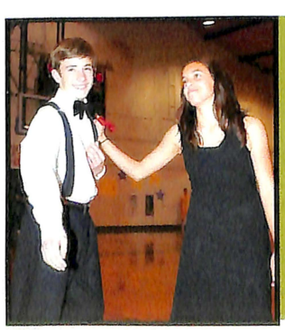

Although all the performances were Broadway worthy only one class could win. The Sophomore's performance came up short as they came in at last place. They still gave it their all and will surely be great next year.

There was a tie for 2nd. The judges just couldn't choose between the Freshmen's version of Chicago and the Juniors rendition of The Wizard Of Oz.

Coming in on the top, at first place was the graduating class of 2009, the Seniors! Their performance had everyone "shape up" and won the judges over. Sandy, preformed by Erika Dellenbach, '09, and Danny, played by Joe-Joe Corral, '09, stole the show showing off their on, then off, then on again romance. "We had a few weeks where no one knew what was going on but we pulled it together in the end." Stated Anna Booth '09 about the crazy practices the Senior class had.

Even though there was chaos and people couldn't get their hair in place or costumes weren't working. Everything came together for one of the best homecomings.

Our Freshmen girls know how to control the men. Jordan Wilson '12 leads fellow freshmen. Daniel Flinders '12 away to dance.

Dancing in the streets isn't easy. Two rival gangs battle it out, not fighting but with dance moves during the Sophomores routine.

Senior Khanh Trinh can be found delivering excellent customer service skills at the local Taco Bell fast food restaurant.

Courtney Brinsmead '09 and Stephanie Oriarte '09 are both ASB officers and work hard at school together. In fact, they also work hard together at Loard's Ice Cream and Sweets. "My job is pretty easy. It doesn't get busy during the winter, so I basically just sit there and do my homework and text. Holla!" states Brinsmead.

[right] London Brucia '10 demonstrates the cleanliness that is required while working at In-N-Out, a popular fast food restaurant. "In-N-Out is a really fun place to work, however, you're never just standing around doing nothing. It's always so busy!" exclaims Brucia.

Senior Aundrea Berardi searched all summer for a job. She filled out tons of applications and finally found not one, but two jobs! You can find her working as a waitress at Red Robin and also making pretzels at Wetzel's Pretzels at the mall.

Senior Jacque Allen has been working at Monsoon Burgers for almost two years. She does a broad range of work from waiting tables and cashiering to cleaning tables.

Working at Scandia can be such a fun experience. From spending numerous hours running the laser tag arena, senior Jeff Garcia has acquired some new skills. "My job trains me to become a finely tuned killing machine," exclaims Garcia.

Courtney Sjoberg '09 spends her days working for the city of Vacaville. She babysits a large amount of kids which can be very overwhelming at times.

With one of the highest amounts of Armijo students, Sears is one of the most popular jobs. Students can be found working behind a cash register, folding clothes, and selling vacuums.

JOBS

Got Money?

Money can't buy happiness. However, for highschoolers it is a necessity. Many students have to work hard in order to pay for gas, after school activities, and just to have fun. Some kids get allowances from their parents. Others get jobs. It's not unusual to find a student who juggles academics or sports along with employment. An example of this is senior Stephanie Oriarte. She is one of the captains of the cheerleading squad and also works at Loard's Ice Cream and Sweets. "I've learned how to budget my money more wisely because I am aware of how much I'm earning and how much I can spend," states Oriarte.

Whether it be bussing tables, folding clothes, or flipping burgers, Armijo students hold a wide variety of jobs. Khanh Trinh '09 can be found working the drive-thru at Taco Bell, while Isabel Machado '09 spends her time working at Discovery Kingdom.

Overall, having a job in high school can be a very rewarding experience. "From working, I've become more independent. I pay my car payment, gas, insurance, phone bill, and extras every month," states Courtney Sjoberg '09. Not only do you get a taste of the real world but you also get to load your pockets with some cold hard cash.

[left] Alisha Fernandez '09 spends her afternoons working at Fox Gymastics in Vacaville. "I fell in love with gymnastics when I was younger so it's really fun to work with young talented girls that share the same passion," states Fernandez.

During a spirit march, Mrs. Banks wiggles her tongue in excitement for the upcoming game.

Stretching out, Richard Kuidis '09 makes a funny face at the first training day for track.

Between songs, Nathaniel Cook '11 gets his lips wet and ready for his next song while playing his clarinet.

Goofing off, wearing huge glasses, Shelby Smith-Kenny '10 was caught off-guard playing around. Turning around, Shelby was surprised to see a camera in her face.

Enjoying a stroll down the hallway at school, the Sjoberg sisters, Courtney '09 and Casey '10 seem to forget about their little sister, Sydney '12 and force her to walk into the pole.

Whoops!

BLOOPERS!

What you didn't see

Bloopers are usually embarrassing moments, behind-the-scenes, or mistakes that weren't supposed to be seen or heard of. They happen at the most random moments and are mostly unexpected. Bloopers seem to be the funniest moments of events or during an ordinary day. When caught in a blooper moment, some people get really embarrassed and blush. "If something embarrassing happens to me, I start getting red and get really hot," said Gale La Compte. Otherpeople can easily laugh it off. Everyone does silly things once in awhile, some more than others. So its no big deal if you get caught in a bloopers moment.

Throughout the school year, Kaysi Wheeler '11, always seems to be eating some kind of food. At one of the boys' soccer games, Kaysi was caught taking a huge bite of her carne asada burrito. "What can i say? I have a hanty appetite," says Kaysi. "Thanks for taking this picture Mr. B!" At least she can laugh it off!

J.V. shows just as much dedication during rival games than any other teams. J.V. players don't have playoffs to look forward to, instead they mark the date that they play Farifield at home. Damian Johnson '11 flies by a Fairfield player and drives aggressively toward the basket.

Teams play harder against their rival schools. Although water polo often gets overlooked, the rivalry between Armijo and Rodriguez is just as fierce as in any other sport. Jessica Barker '11 said "Rodriguez was a big game for me, I really felt like I had to put out for it, and ended up scoring seven goals!"

[Bottom] Nick Spini '11 dominates two players to earn possession for Armijo. He forced the fumble and caused chaos among the Falcon offense.

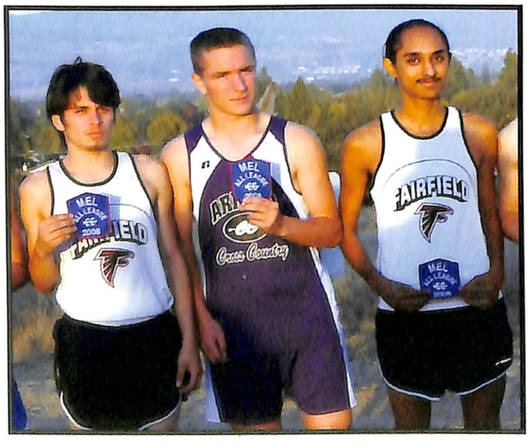

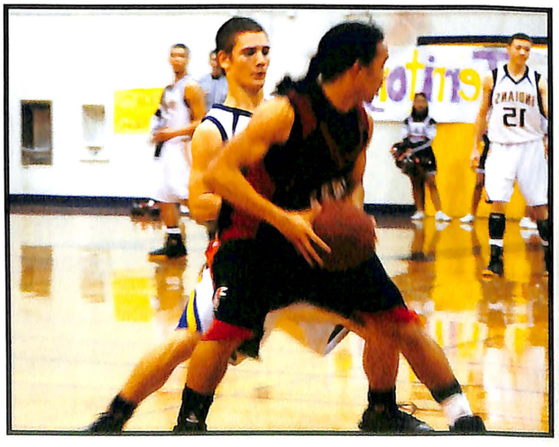

The Armijo volleyball team also loves to play Fairfield, whether at home or in Fairfield territory. The teams athleticism is shown here with a double block.

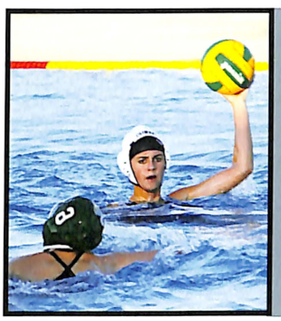

Although Mathew Pence '09 has been in tight races with these guys all year, he celebrates winning all league at this prestigious event.

John Souza '10 shows his determination against Fairfield in our home court. "I feel an extra exertion when playing against Fairfield" quotes John Souza.

Jeff Garcia '09 is one of the fastest players in the M.E.L. league. He shows his dominance here against Armijo's longest running rival.

Armijo does not only dominate on their home territory, we teach our rival schools that we can dominate no matter where we play. Lizzy Dillman '11 is shown here teaching Rodriguez about how Armijo plays at their home pool.

RIVALS

You don't want none

It is the most important moment of the year. Your record, your stats, your ups, your downs, none of them matter when you are face to face with an opponent of a rival school. It doesn't matter if you are an athlete, staff member, or fan we always have the desire to be better than Fairfield and Rodriguez. It doesn't matter how good or bad you have done all season because when purple and gold steps into the same competition as red and black or green and black, it's a completely different situation. An athlete finds a new fire when the stands are filled with both their fans and with fans of the enemy. A staff member regrets making a bet when they have to wear another schools colors. Fans cringe at the thought of a rival school trying to take over our gym. "We brought all we had during the Fairfield game. It really fired up the A team when we heard Fairfield was going to need half the gym" said Senior A-team captain Edward Johnston. No matter what competition it is, from sports to fundraising we always want to do it better.

[Above] The lights were out at Fairfield in more ways than one. This picture signifies the intensifying battle that was fought at Fairfield high school. The lights went out just before halftime, where the players continued to fight. They kept on with the battle until three lights were out and it was nearly impossible to see. Fairfield ended up on top at the end of the game but gave many congratulations to Armijo for fighting through adversity in their rival stadium.

JUNIOR SENIOR BOWLING NIGHT

Allycat Strike

There were a lot of strikes and spares on Sunday night at Junior Senior Bowling Night. From the lanes to the arcade, Armijo students were having a blast. Teams were made starting two months in advance, filling 42 lanes at Stars bowling ally in Vacaville. There was something unique about each team whether it be their wacky costumes or their crazy team names. Many teams had costumes to distinguish them from other teams. From Team Gutta to Team Ballin, they all had thier own style and their own moves.

Some took advantage of the time they had on the lanes, bowling up to eight games! Others took their time to try and answer all of the many trivia questions that were asked, dance to the music that played all night, or enjoy the company of the many Juniors and Seniors that showed up on this fun night. On lanes 40 through 42 the staff was taking their turns showing students what they got. Junior Senior Bowling Night was definitely a night you did not want to miss.

Team Gutta was represented by both Juniors and Seniors. This was one team that decided to wear a uniform rather than wacky and crazy outfits.

The students were not the only ones that had fun at Junior Senior bowling night. Staff members got to bowl while they supervised. Mrs. Wetterhall bowled an impressive 152 in the first staff game of the night.

Some teams dressed as wacky and crazy as they could. This team decided to dress according to different holidays. These girls did not just come to bowl, but too show off their awesome outfits.

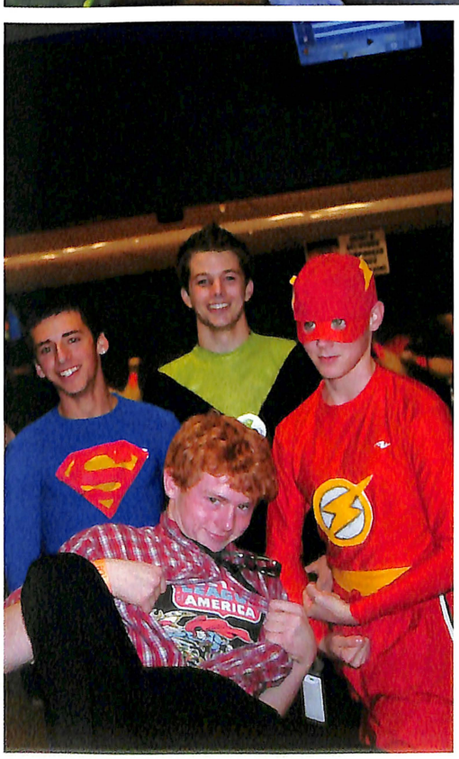

Team Flintstones was a team of all Juniors. These girls showed everyone what's up with their Bedrock style. These girls didn't only come to look pretty, they bowled the night away and took advantage of this great night.

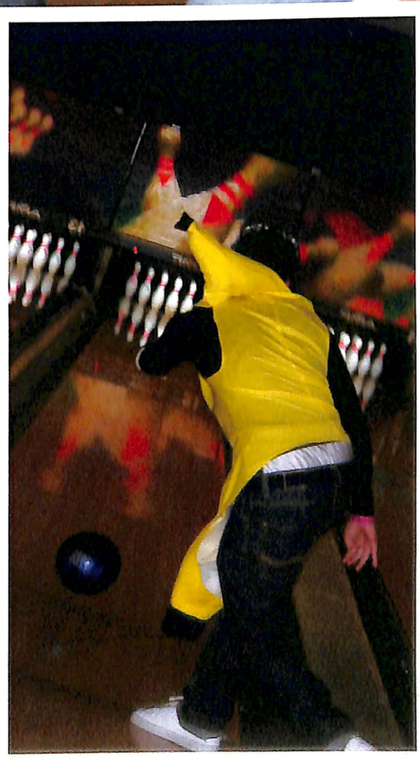

These student body leaders let their hair down at junior senior bowling night. This all senior team includes JoeJoe Corral '09, Dani Zumpano '09, Ana Booth '09, Lauren Davini '09, Stephanie Oriarte '09, and Kate Elliot '09. They partied all night long with their Senior and Junior classmates while sporting their fruit of the loom fit.

The Teams

Melissa Rosman '10, Heather Cooper '10, Joseph Camilleri '10, Annie Gainza '10, and Kristin Dumdumaya '10, otherwise known as team Ballin', was one of the craziest teams in the building on Sunday night. This team was definitely one of the teams that had the most fun. They made the most that they could out of the night, along with the other teams that surrounded them.

[Left] The bowling banana was appearing and reappearing all night long during the night. The man behind the banana was David Garcia '09.

[Above] Bowling was not the only thing that the students did on this open night. The game room was also open all night for the ones who prefer to play games than bowl.

Accidently walking into the opposite genders bathroom is pretty embarrassing. Just ask Catie Tralka '11 who did just that the first week of school freshman year.

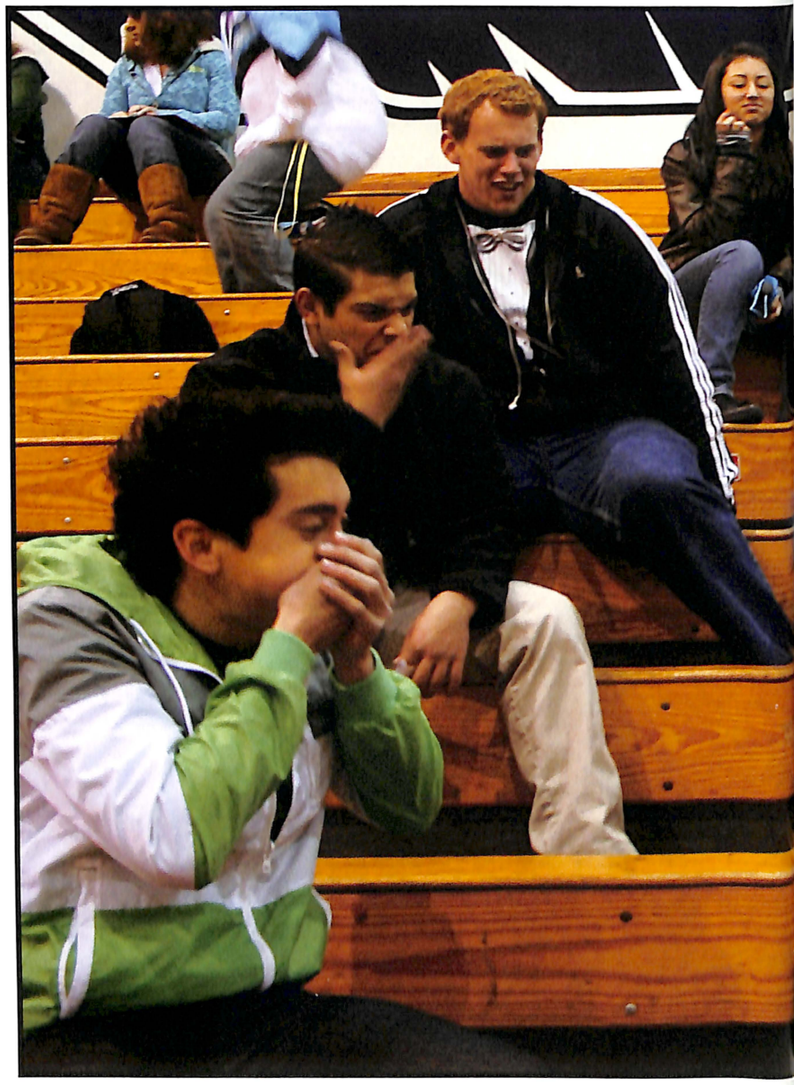

Walking into the pole in the middle of a doorway is something Daniel Flinders '12 thought was really embarrassing.

[Below] Colton Fitzjjerald '11 says his most embarrassing moment was, "In ROTC we were marching in flight and I took a wrong turn and ended up marching towards the other way, alone."

Whoops! Thats what Stephanie Mielke '11 was thinking when all of the sudden someone pulled down her tube top. A few people got quite a nice show.

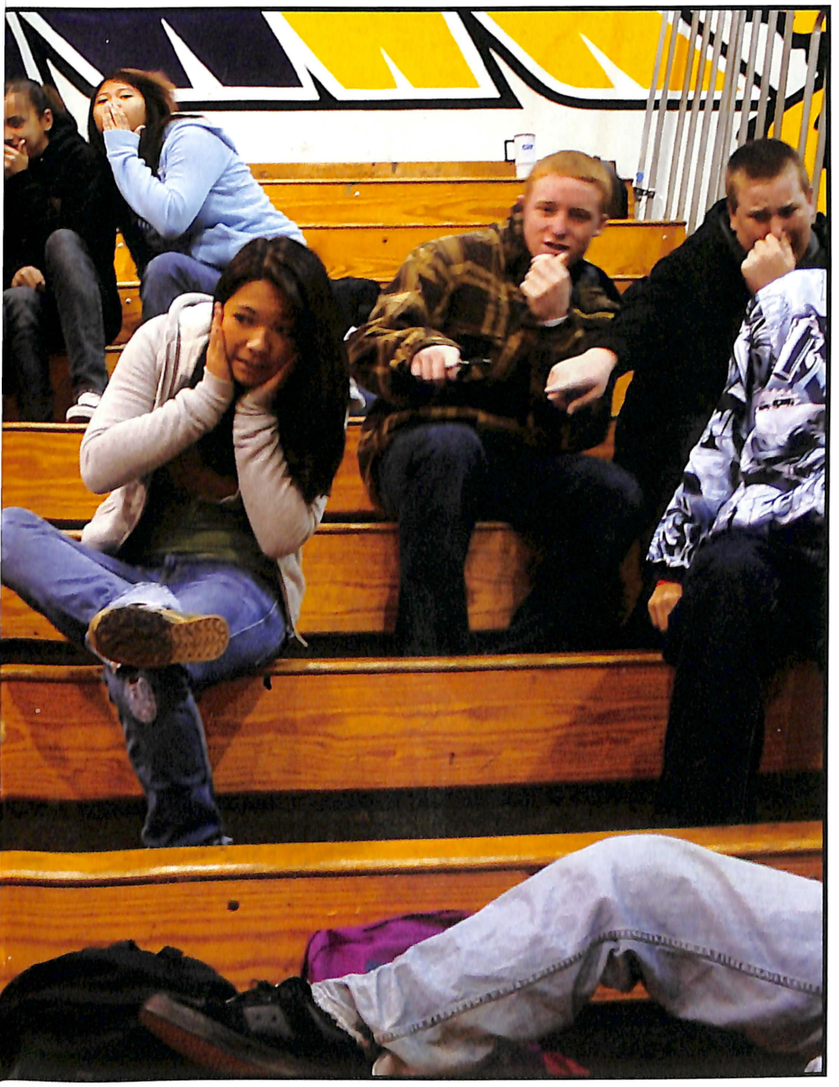

During Kate Elliott's '09 sophomore year she was taking a test in AP history and she farted and the entire class heard. Luckily no one knew who it was until now.

Bianca Garcia '11 tells us, "There was this one day that I went to the bathroom. I came out and everybody was looking at me. It turns out I had toilet paper stuck in my jeans!"

One day while Michaela Schoonover '12 was doing flips and handsprings, she fell. Luckily for her not many were watching.

Embarrassing Moments

You can laugh about it later...

Embarrassed- v. To cause to feel self-conscious or ill at ease; disconcert. That is a feeling we have all felt, some have more embarrassing moments than others. We all have our own embarrassing stories to tell. Just about everyone has tripped or fell at an embarrassing time if not anything worse. They could also be embarrassing moments where people got to see a little more than they every wanted too such as "I did the splits and my pants ripped," Malina Kim '12. Some have moments that they do something a little bit stupid like..."I hugged a random person," Quentin Jackson '09. We also all have our way of handling things when something embarrassing happens to us. Some of us just laugh it off and pretend like it is no big deal. Others turn tomato red because they're blushing so hard. Many act like nothing happened in the first place. One thing we should all remember is that we have all been in that situation at one time or another and if it really is THAT embarrassing everyone will still probably forget within the next few days. Besides, what's the point of embarrassing moments if you can't laugh about them later?

RIDIN' DIRRRTY

You're driving with the windows down, music blaring, and you've never felt so free before. High school students love their cars and the freedom that comes along with them. Each student can be identified by wht they drive, whether it be a huge truck or a classy convertible. Some people like flashy cars while others would have rather have reliable ones. Senior Richard Chang drives a 2007 Lexus ls250 and loves everything about it. "My favorite part of my car is the exhaust because it sets my car apart from everyone else," states Chang '09. Some students want to make heads turn, like Jacque Allen '09 who made her car even louder, thus directing more attention to it. "I changed my exhaust to dual Flowmasters Super 44's with a H-Pipe to make it louder and increase performance. It's all about the muscle car!" exclaims Allen. Overall, every highschooler wants to have a car of their own and Armijo students are definitely no exception. Page done by: Ginny Galbraith

Junior Leilani Lintao and Senior Ryan Parodi have known each other since their Holy Spirit days. It was quite surprising when they found out that they drive identical 2002 Ford Escapes. Leilani Lintao '10 insists that her car is better, while Ryan Parodi '09 says, "I've been driving for a year longer, so mine's better."

While she rolls down the street, Senior Molly Offerman can be seen in her 1992 Chevy Camaro RS. "My favorite part of my car is the color, it's very unique and I love it!" says Offerman '09.

Lauren Davini '09 is a very unique individual, and so is her 1976 BMW 2002. "It's not just a little orange car, it's lightning on wheels!" exclaims Davini '09.

These two boys share a lot in common, obviously they both drive huge trucks but they are also both named Ramiro. Senior Ramiro Vera (right) drives a 2009 Chevy 1500 extended cab while Junior Ramiro Yanez can be seen rollin' in his 2004 Dodge 1500 pick up. "My Chevy sits so high up it looks like a UFO!" exclaims Vera '09. While Vera compares his to a UFO, Yanez states, "My truck is my red rocket! Oh ya!"

The Cars!

Driving one of the most well-known American sports cars in history, Roosevelt Smith '09 (top) and Ginny Galbraith '09 (bottom) love to be seen in their 1998 Chevy Corvettes. "The best thing about my car is probably the speed," stated Roosevelt. When Ginny was asked what she likes most about her car, she replied with, "I love the whole look of it; it definitely makes heads turn."

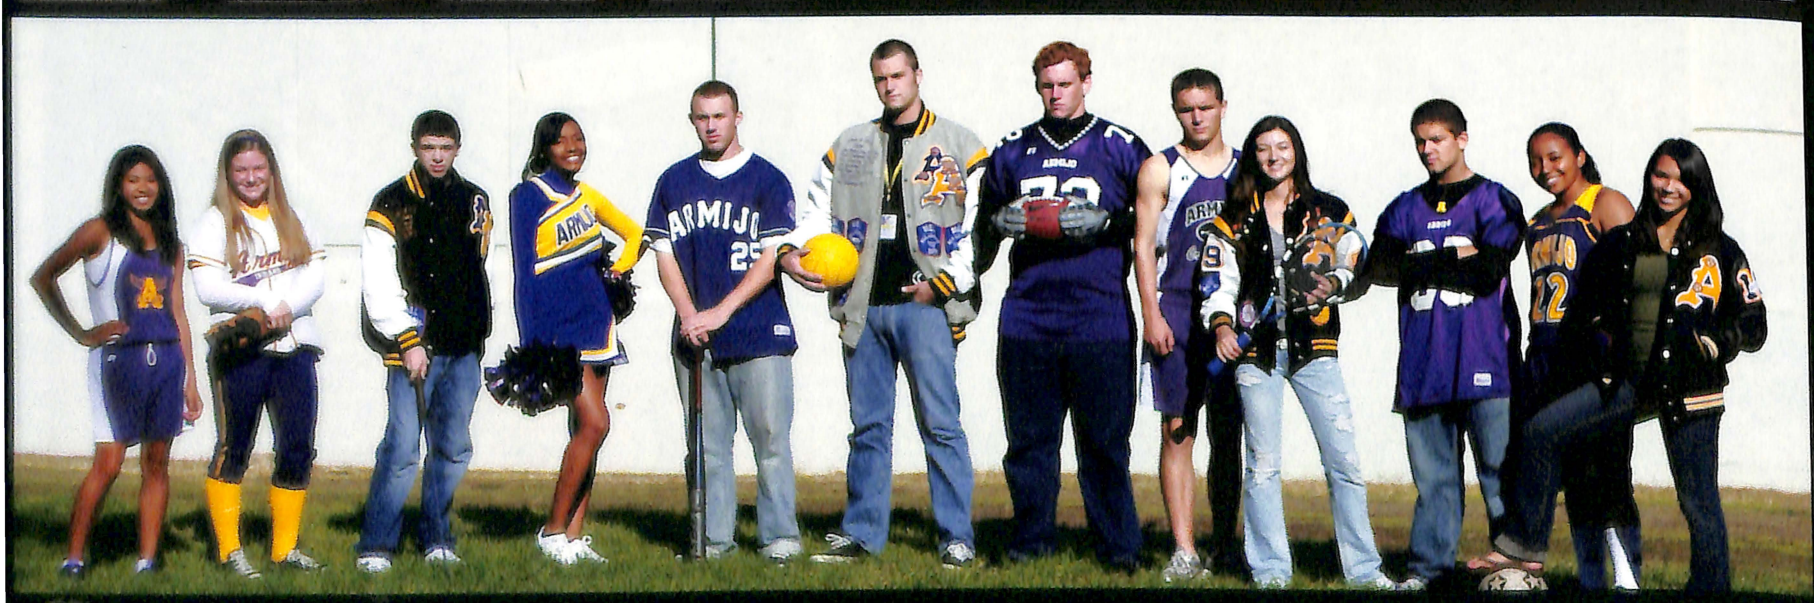

While she can be seen on the streets in her 1997 BMW 328i convertible, Junior Arielle Sumilhig makes heads turn. Her parents surprised her with this car, and she has loved it ever since. "My favorite part about my car is the color, it's red - the closest thing to pink!" states Arielle Sumilhig '10.

(above) Senior Jacque Allen has a passion for Mustangs. In fact, she crashed her first Mustang, and then saved up enough money to purchase her 1996 Ford Mustang GT. She invests a lot of money in her car and upgraded her sound system, as well as adding Cobra rims.

Troy Choate "09" stated, "The biggest problem that the football team faced was a big ego coming into the first game of the season. Twenty guys coming together as one, facing diversity and sticking together to have a great season. That's the story of Armijo JV football team this year. Coach Taliver was inspired this season and says this group of boys is one of his favorite over the years. He says," Before every game I talk about how the team needs every man to do his part, relating my team to the Spartan army of three hundred men, but went on to take the Persian army of ten thousand men."

The Indians season started off great, until they met up with a team of their own caliber- Rodriguez High. The first four undefeated games were tough and well fought, and the Indians came out victorious. Facing injuries, from starting full back William Johnston '11 and running back Ja' Briane Ross '11, but the Indians stepped up to the challenge. When the mustang's came to town, Armijo suffered its first loss along with an injury from their starting quarterback, David Fernandez '11. Justin McCaleb '12 said," It was hard playing without our starting quarterback. We had guys playing positions they had never played before." Alan Ruiz '12 said," David was a leader; it was hard to loose our leader. It put a lot of unwanted pressure to the new quarterback." In the mist of playing the Mustangs, the Indians didn't give up, Nick Spini '11 stepped up and led the team into homecoming, where they won in the last seconds of the game. With this great victory, the Indians pride was up and they seemed unbeatable. The team and the coach both felt confident that things will turn out in their favor.

You wish you were and Indian Armijo Varsity Cheerleader! Hoo-Ha! These gorgeous spirited girls don't get enough credit for what they have to do and they do quite the amazing job. Team Captain, Stephanie Oriarte '09 says, "Its tough to pick just one favorite thing about cheerleading but just getting crowd response during performances and feeding off their energy is such an exhilarating feeling."

Many of the girls are good friends and get along really well. Of course with 19 girls there's bound to be some drama, and this team is no exception. But when they cheer they put everything else aside to focus on what they do best, increase our school spirit.

Unfortunately no one understands how much work is really put into what they have to do. Megan Villanueva '09 tells us, "You have to dedicate yourself 100%, Sometimes put it before other important things in your life, its very time consuming, but the feeling of leading the crowd, motivating the team to win, and being out on the field putting forth all the hard work we've done throughout the week makes it all worthwhile."

Determination is the main word that described the varsity men's soccer team this year. Whether or not they had a winning season, the team never let it get to them as each and every player gave one hundred percent on the field. Even when the team found themselves losing, Senior goalie Ivan Contreras '09 stated, "I try to give my teammates some motivation when we need it the most, and they usually responded by showing off tons of effort." On the field, the players never showed a sign of weakness as they all worked as a team and played to the very last minute

Although the season was very tough for the team, all the players still found ways to make the season very enjoyable. First time varsity player Matt Limneos '11 said, "The soccer season has been an amazing experience with the hilarious bus rides to the close games we have had." All the players can say the soccer season was a success this year with all the effort put into the games and practices along with all the enjoyable times they had. Besides the players, the Armijo coaches Pete Zopfi and Dan Lovingier gave as much effort as the players did to help the team improve. Billy Corn '11 believes the coaches have done a great job this year saying, "The coaches were very devoted to us as players and worked hard this year." Both coaches wanted to leave the players with as much as they could give them and they look forward to returning for next year's varsity team. The varsity team ended the season 6-8-1 overall but truly defined what Armijo soccer is all about.

JV Men's Soccer

Olay! The JV Boys Soccer Team kicked off the season with determination and teamwork. With sophomore captains, Anthony Del Dotto, Tyler Dunkin, and Jonathon Gomez, and coaches, Brad Burzynski and Brad Benesh, the team had a chance of reaching their goal of winning leagues.

When asked how the team stands out from past JV teams, Coach Burzynski said," This team stands out because they can play high level, I have 8 players that play on the same club team and they already have experience playing with each other. It's good chemistry." Brad Benesh, a graduate last year, came back and brought his past experience and knowledge to the team.

Jesus Rangel aka Chiva described the team as a family," I can't find the right word but I guess I would say 'family' because we spend a lot of time together. We talk, we help out each other, and it's part of our second home, school, and we work together to win the game." It shows by how they support each other on and off the field and they don't just act like a team, but also as brothers. This team was very dedicated and perservered and though they took some losses, the team strived to be better and helped each other in becoming a better player.With a record of 5-7-3 the boys had a great season!

"Ring Ring RIng nice call" were varsity's encouraging words on the floor this year. Even though throughout the season they may have returned to the bus with an L "...we got more than we expected.." says junior Victoria Vigil. They worked as a team and created unity as any team should do. Varsity's team never failed to stress how important it was to come together as a team and play as one. By doing this, they met there biggest goal for this year's 2008 season: To beat Fairfield High. Senior Angelique Rush says, "Beating Fairfield High had to have been the most memorable moment of this season." People come and go, but a team lasts forever, and this season was no different. With the team's roller coaster year it comes as a surprise that many girls considered it a great learning experience which brought the team closer. Freshmen, Michelle Pratt, described it as "... a hard season for all of us, it had up and downs, but we stuck together and are still going strong." Even through the ups and downs there were memorable moments. One that every player remembered, including sophomore, Jackie Flores, was "When we beat Fairfield [high] because everybody [was] really energetic about the game and we worked really hard." The team all seemed to enjoy this season and many girls recommend joining. "Join! It's so much fun and the best part is you can play no matter your mood." Jennifer Kaump '12. Advice from the players? "This year was fun even though we had our moments that weren't the best."

The Varsity boys water polo team had greater expectations than what they achieved this season. They may not have had winning season but they definitely did not stop improving by working hard and being dedicated to practicing.

The first tournament played was the Healy Tournament. Ryan Parodi thought that "the competition had stepped its game up since last year." They had two wins and three losses, which set the tone for the season.

Despite disappointment in league, the team stayed very close and had a lot of fun playing together. Members of the team were often seen hanging out on and off the pool deck. For the majority of the players, this will be the last year they play water polo together and they will be missed greatly next season. Page done by: Melissa Tong

The love of the game and the spirit of competition drew each member of the 10 player team to the sport this year.. When asked how water polo benefits him, Oscar Dominguez class of (2011) said: " Well it helps me to get fit and stay busy after school" This was a good season for all of us we didn't win all of the games but we did play our hardest and we never gave up." When asked about the game Edward Johnson class of (2012) said, "I thought it would be easy to play but when I got in the water it was much harder then I thought it would be, because I had to learn how to swim with a ball that wouldn't go down. And now that I know how to play it's much easier and more fun to play. I had a lot of support from my best friend Rachel Salella she really encouraged me to stick with it and keep playing." Goalie, Junior Alexis Konstantinopoulos warms with her team by blocking goals before the game starts.

"It is the fiercest of all the feline sports and there is total nonstop action," junior Margo Matthews replies when asked why water polo is the best. The intense nature of this sport is no secret; bruises, bloody noses, and many more injuries are to be expected when playing such an intense sport but anything is possible with dedication. Although the varsity girls have had tough season this year they have stayed together and stayed strong despite their losses. Dedication is a key for these girls who devote all their time to this sport by practicing Monday through Friday with games every Tuesday and Thursday. To build their skills even further the varsity girls water polo team swam with their clothes on to build endurance and make them work even harder. With all this hard work the girls enjoy winding down with team trips to Starbucks and also group songs "we usually break out in to song and chant random lyrics over and over. It makes practice super entertaining," Christine Finnigan 10' explains. No matter how many struggles they may face these girls stick through it and make the best of it, but why? for Alexis Konstantinopoulous 10' the answer to this is simple; "we constantly lose but we are very friendly and nice people 'plus we love it!" Page done: Courtney Brinsmead

For nine nights from August through October, the girls of the Armijo JV Water Polo Team joined together as one to play a sport deemed as one of the roughest and toughest games. For four full quarters, these girls exert themselves to the fullest in hopes of coming away with just one more win, including their season ending, 13 – 6 victory over Fairfield High. " This was definitely the highlight of the season. I was so proud of the girls", commented first-year Coach John Dahlin.

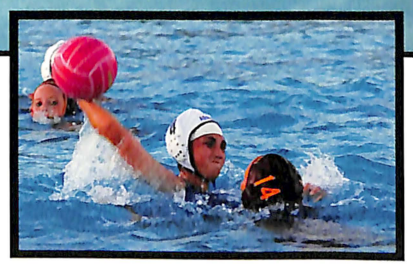

Even with such a young team, more than half of whom were either freshmen or First-year players, the girls were able to give powerhouse Vintage, a run for their money. "I'm really looking forward to next year, we'll have a bunch of more experienced players" stated Kathleen Finnigan '12. With the series tied one to one between Napa and Armijo, the last game between both teams was crucial and would decide who would become MEL champions. Because the game was so significant coach Davis had the girls practice long and hard to prepare for the championship game. "The last game versus Napa was huge. We practiced until 6 each day and the girls even came out on Saturdays early in the morning" stated Coach Davis. The hard work along with the support of the spectators paid off because the Armijo girls cruised past Napa with a 7 to 2 victory and sealed the MEL championship title. "Our main goal this year was to win the MEL championship and with being a senior, this was huge for me" stated Destiny Garcia, ('09)

The tennis season was full of great accomplishments including setting and breaking school records. For the first time in Armijo history the girl's tennis team has won two MEL titles two years in a row. The record of single games lost versus a school was broken when the girls only gave up 10 games (the previous record was 11) on their last game versus Fairfield High School. Freshman Laya Desari stated, "This being my first year of tennis I was really excited to be part of a team that has had such a great impact and success." Matthew Pence '09 has been running his hardest, always earning front-runner for the Varsity boys. He was the only one from Armijo to win all-league, placing fourth out of the top eight. "It was a tough race," Pence ecxclaimed, "but I was lucky enough to get fourth." This year would be his second time winning all-league. Matt not only won all-league, he went to sectionals and was the first ever cross country runner in Armijo's history to make it all the way to state where he placed 95th out of about 200 runners. Matt hopes to continue his pursuit in running through college and into the rest of his life.

(Below) The Varsity Girls run together to show their intensity. There were only a few girls on the Varsity team this year.

The cross country team this year is definitely smaller than last year's, but that didn't stop them from always trying their best to run every meet their hardest. There were a few returners to the team and some new faces, but they all bonded and became a family. The season for them this year probably wasn't the best but they always found a way to have fun. "The best thing about cross country is by far the camraderie. I don't really remember many races from years past, instead I remember the good times I've had with my team mates." Josh Limneos '09 said. Their senior team this year was definitely stronger and closer as a team.

Matthew Pence '09 returned this year and won all-leagues for the second time in a row. Varsity runner Lauren Davini '09 ran her best, but fell short in qualifying for the top eight, getting ninth in the championships.

All the girls running cross country ran for Varsity, because the team didn't have enough to have both a Junior Varsity and Varsity team. The girls lacked runners meet after meet which made it harder to qualify to win, but they never gave up. It didn't matter if you finished last or first, everyone gave it their all, tried their best and had the support of the whole team. Page done by: Belinda Garcia

Cross Country

The Varsity girls team huddle up at the starting line to do their traditional team chant, "We run hard on three, we run hard on three, one, two, three, WE RUN HARD!"

Would you call cross country a team sport or an individual sport?

"A team sport during practice, but more individual during races."
Brian deSilva '12

"Cross country is unique because it is both a team sport and an individual sport. You win meets as a team, yet every individual runner has a personal record that they want to beat. The feeling you get when you beat it is just as good, if not better, than when you win a meet."
Josh Limneos '09

"I think it's an individual sport because we train together, but in a race it's all down to YOU."
Rockeish McKenzie '12

"I would call it an individual sport because only you can make yourself great but at the same time you have a whole team that supports and encourages you to do your best."

Varsity Men's Basketball

Basketball is a game of heart, intensity, and will power. Do you think you have what it takes to play? Can you keep your cool when your down by one basket with 10 seconds left in the 4th quarter? Can you make those two free-throws needed to win a playoff game with the crowd shouting, let alone can you even keep the crowd out of your head? Can you play the game with excellent sportsmanship? Well these are the minimum requirements to even try out for the Armijo team.

This year there seemed to be 13 lucky players who's resume was good enough to make the Armijo squad. The guys started the season off very well despite the loss of Senior Jesse Cary '09 who had a season-ending injury. Luckily, this injury only temporarily set the team back .When Cary '09 was asked about his injury he replied, "I hope I can make it back for at least one game this season." The team was able to rack up enough wins to make it into play-off competition. Armijo played Johansen High from Modesto for a chance to make it into the play-offs. Edging off Johansen, they won the seed at the bottom of the bracket where they faced the best team in the section, Folsom High. Armijo wasn't afraid of their opponent at all, on that Friday night they loaded up in the bus and waited to get to Folsom. Sadly to say, nothing that they could have done would've made a difference in the game. Folsom showed up to play and put on a dominating performance over the Indians. After getting on the bus to ride back home for the final time this season, the guys were already setting new goals for next season.

Best Memory: Scoring the game winning shot in one game, because the feeling of you winning the game and pulling your team through, it just feels really magical.

The team surrounds Coach Perales, listening intently as he discusses the plays that they're going to use next.

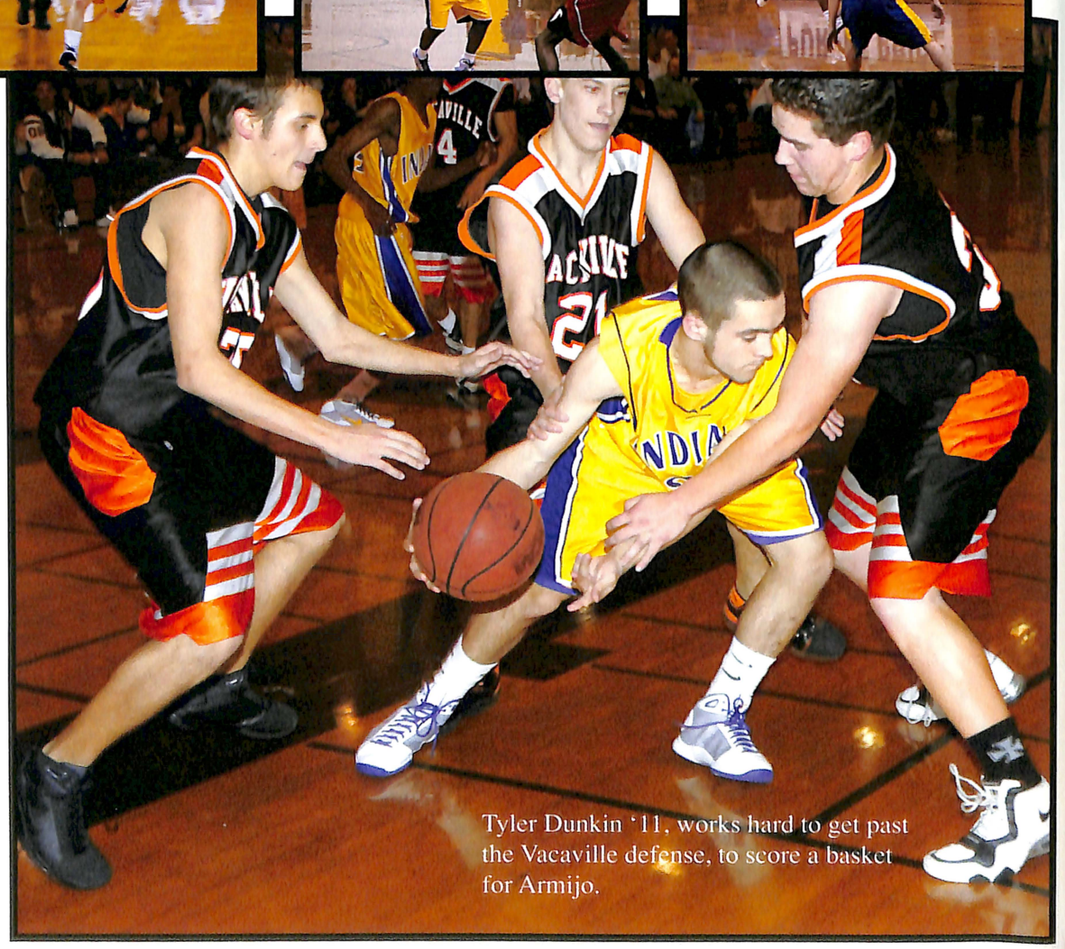

One man can be a crucial ingredient on a team, but one man cannot make a team. Without every member of a team working, the team is not a team at all. The Armijo crowd roars as the JV boys come running out of the locker room, onto the court, for yet another victory. Winning isn't everything to this team, but it is one of the best parts. They have spent many hours at practices working hard to get as far as they can. Basketball isn't just a sport that you can just wake up and be good at, it takes a lot of practice and hard work. "Working hard shouldn't be something you're told to do, but something you always do," said Terrance Broussard '11, after winning their game against Napa High.

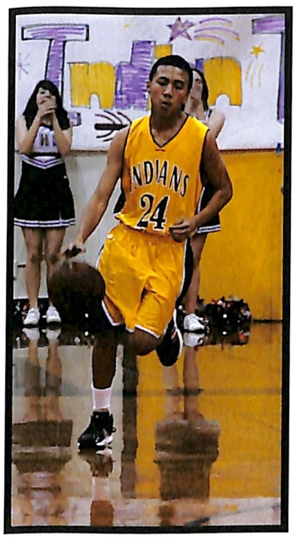

They have all put a lot of hard work into this team, from keeping their grades up to playing tough. The guys on this team are all determined to make this year the best season possible, all of them inspiring each other to play better or work harder. "Three things a basketball player needs are toughness, smarts and to be unselfish," says Karmen Balhotra '11. These are the three exact things that the player's on this team use. And by doing this, the team has had a great season.

Varsity Girls Basketball

When the girls found out they would be coached by a "new guy" this year, a small amount of apprehension was in the air. "Would he know what he's doing? Has he ever coached before? Who is he?" These were questions all the girls had, and all of them, including some unspoken would be answered over the course of the season. Opening against Rodriguez, the girls were outlasted by just one point in the last seconds of the game. But their hopes went undiminished, knowing that the Rodriguez squad was tough in their own right. The girls would rally back however, and win back-to-back games against Bethel and Skyline High schools. Finally, M.E.L. season started, and this year would be a rough one for the girls, with their only league win against Vintage High School. Through it all, there was still a glimmer of hope for the somewhat downtrodden players. "I think losing is a lot harder than winning," states Thaleya Nickson '10 said, "It makes you want those wins more and more, and pushes you to try and achieve them." Although the season may not have been as successful as everyone had hoped, the team will only be losing 3 of it's seniors, and a lot of young talent will be moving up for next year. With this new talent combined with this year's returning players, the future for the Armijo Varsity Girls looks very bright indeed.

The JV Girls had a great season, having a record of 14-9. The girls put in a lot of time and effort into the sport, practicing every day besides game days for two hours. With Mr. and Mrs. Little as their coach the girls were able to execute plays successfully during games.

Many of the girls have been playing for most of their lives like sophomore Amanda Young, "I have been playing basketball ever since I was in the 6th grade. At the moment I'm not playing with any other teams outside of school but before I moved here I played with other teams in tournaments." Most of the girls were also inspired to play basketball by their family. "Growing up, I watched my cousins playing all the time at the park and that got me into playing basketball," says Jordayna Lealao-Taiao when asked who inspired her to play basketball.

The girls had fun working together as a team and ended up having a wonderful season!

Wrestling

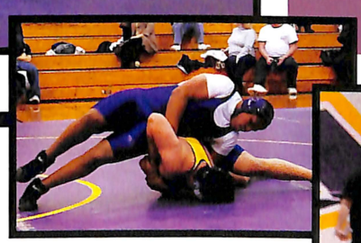

'You should not be reading this sign.' That's what the sign above the wrestling mat they use for practice reads. The team spends a lot of time in there every week. Our wrestlers have dedication, they practice every day. Some starve themselves to make weight. Wrestling isn't just a sport it's a lifestyle. You can't go a day without working to make weight and keeping your body healthy and in shape. It's a lot harder than it looks. After every match you can see our Armijo wrestlers finish dripped in sweat because they just had a full body workout. It is a lot more than just throwing the other team around against the mat. Some take it harder than others when the outcome isn't what they wanted. "I like to wrestle but I don't like losing," says Dakota Black. They practice moves and techniques; they must also learn to hold their own against an opponent. Wrestling is a sport of respect; it tests your patience, strength and ability. At times it can knock the breath out of you, you can break bones, and there is even known to be blood. It is purely survival of the fittest. Quite a few of our wrestlers survived all the way to sectionals and bleached their hair to show it.

With the sound of the ball hitting the bat echoes through out the field and through out the stands, the Armijo Indians Varsity Baseball team hopes to bring home another M.E.L. Championship Title. With many talents on the team, from the 4 new sophomores on the team to the new addition to the coaching staff, the Indians are ready for the up-coming season. When asking about the up-coming season and how it will be turned out, Andrew Spiller '09 says "It's not over, till its over."

For some of the players, this will be the last time they play as an Indian, and for others, it is just the start of their varsity career. "I like to play with people that is on my level, I'm just happy when I'm playing baseball," stated Jonathan Dunn '11. This is the first year on varsity, and the last year all the Dunn Brothers will be on same team together. Jordan Dunn '09 says about playing with his twin brothers " When were all in the game together, its a "Dunn" deal."

From the long after school practices to the long bus rides to the games and tournaments on weekends, the boys stick together to strive to accomplish another great season to remember.

The beginning of Spring brought the start of baseball season, but it also faced unpredictable April showers. But even if it kept the games rained out for what seemed like months, they never stopped practicing everyday, showing their dedication to the team. Once the rain let up, the JV boys baseball team gave it their all and played their hardest every chance they could. There is no doubt they have been waiting all year to grab a mitt, a bat, and step up to the plate.

The Armijo JV boys started out with high expectations of an undefeated season, but with many Sophomores moving up to Varsity, the team must face adversity to win MELS. "They deserve to be on Varsity," says Austin Liddicoat '12, "but it definitely will be harder to play without them."

Baseball means differently to every player, whether it's a hobby, a passion, or a lifestyle. But one thing's for sure, they play for one reason, the love of the game.

While up at bat or in the outfield, the JV Softball team is always focused and dedicated whether it's a game or just a practice. If the players aren't on the field, they're in the dug out pumping up their fellow teammates and cheering them on. The team and coaches give the players the motivation to play their best. Everyone on the team helps each other improve their game and support each other. For some of the players, it's their first year playing softball and others have been playing since bobby sox. Everyone prefers winning of course, but for the JV softball team having fun is most important. "When you're relaxed and alert, you tend to play better, helping you win," said Agatha Castaneda. The team had a decent season this year, winning half their games, but most importantly they had fun.

Varsity Girls Soccer

Erica Ramirez '09 is always alert when it comes to being the Armijo goalie. Sticking to that statement she makes an amazing last second dive to save a goal!

Like all rumors, word spread pretty fast that the girls' varsity soccer team would have one of their best seasons this year. Those words are not enough to express what the girls accomplished though. Although the beginning of the season was a little rough for the girls, head coach Pete Zopfi never saw a reason to give up on them. He stated that, "Each and every one of these girls has the skills to do great this year. With a little more teamwork there's nothing these girls can't do."

The girls took this to heart and became a great presence to other teams during the season. With teamwork and the various amounts of talent on the field it was no surprise that the girls had an amazing season. Senior goalie Erica Ramirez '09 stated that her highlight moment of the season was when, "We won the All City trophy back. We lost it my freshmen year and we earned it back my senior year!" It has been 4 years since Armijo last had the All City trophy and all of the girls were excited to win it back this year.

Along with this accomplishment, the girls can also agree that the season was enjoyable. As the season progressed the girls bonded more and more with one another. Melissa Tong '10 enjoyed playing with the team this year stating, "I love the girls! We have had a lot of fun together. I've played with some for at least 6 years." Whether it was the close bonding the girls had or the amazing wins the girls got throughout the season, it can be said that this is a season that the girls will not forget.

What was your most memorable moment during the season?

"Being captain and scoring goals because it's a rewarding feeling." Kaysi Wheeler '11

"When our team played Napa and I saved like twenty gazillion goals!" Lacey Konstantinopoulos '12

"When we played against Justin and afterwards we were all dancing and singing." Martha Barron '12

"When we played against Fairfield because I played my best that game" Anais Duran '12

Tia Rowley '12, aggressively attempts to retrieve the soccer ball from an opponent of hers, a Vacaville High team player. "I've been playing soccer for years; what's not to love about it?" she comments.

JV Girls Soccer

Veronica Castro is the aggressive one in this photo as she assertively grabs the ball away from a Vintage opponent.

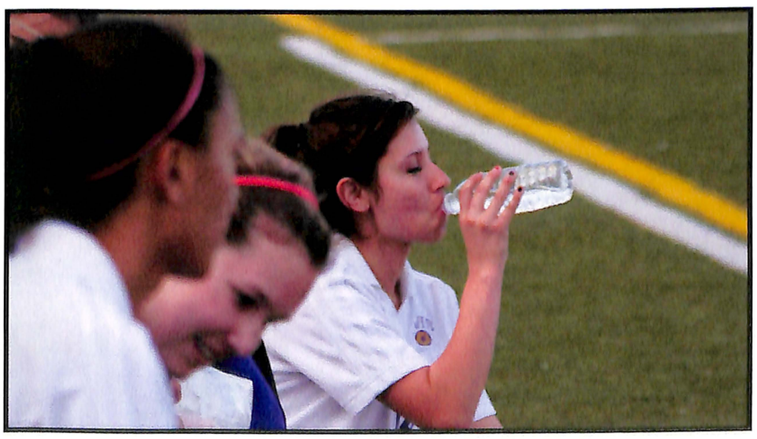

"Keep the field spread wide ladies!" Head Coach Kim Zopfi would say to her team as they were out playing an exhilarating game. This year on the 2008-2009 JV Soccer team, there weren't many returners, but a lot of new freshmen added a new spice to the team. "They really do bring a lot to the team," returned player Dree Webster '11 states. Players on the team state that goals for this year are "to play the best we can, keep their starting positions, and to learn from each other." The team this year has so far had an astounding season, winning most of their games. There is nothing like having the ball and feeling as though you're being chased by ten flaming mad bulls; the mad bulls, in this case, being the other teams player! When asked what was the one game she felt like she played her best, Jessica Barker '12 answered, "the game at Will C. Wood, because I had two assists and I got a yellow card. By far one of my best games." As the season moves on, so do the girls; sophomore Sarah Moraida has big plans for the future. "I hope to get better before next soccer season and play on the varsity team," she replies.

Varsity Swimming

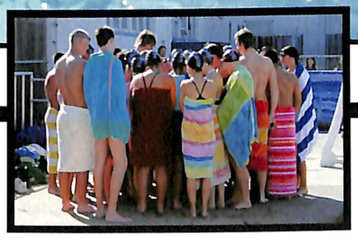

The Varsity team dives into the pool with perfect form and begins their strenuous journey to victory.

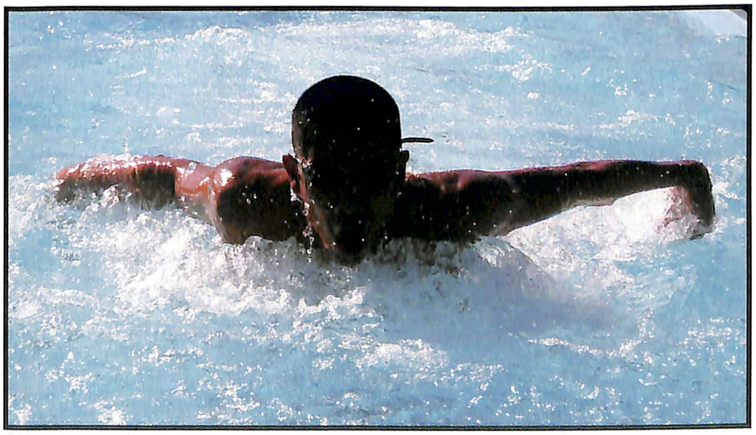

It's 4:30 in the morning, and everyone in Fairfield is still sleeping. That is, everyone except for the Arimijo Varsity Swim team. Aside from two hour practices four days a week after school as well as swim meets every Wednesday, they sometimes had to endure practices before school. Since a lot of seniors and juniors on the team had zero periods, this meant meeting at the pool no later than 5:30 in the morning. "I go to nine practices a week...eventually, you get used to being sleep deprived" answered Haley Hansen '09 when asked how she coped with all of the practices. Hansen, like many others on the team, swim for club teams as well as Armijo's swim team and have had to deal with busy schedules like this all their lives. But all of this hard work and dedication does not go to waste. Everyone enjoys the benefits of improving their skills every time they hit the water and look forward to the hopes of a successful season. "I feel like we will have a strong season. Our swimmers seem very dedicated and driven to do their best" stated Mimi Payne '10 regarding the outlook of their season. And with the team beginning the year with a win and their undeniable camaraderie, many would agree she's about right.

"Take your marks!" The JV swimmers are focused to enter the water first and finish strong. Every day the team practices after school and the most dedicated ones go to morning practices that start at 5:30 am. " Going to morning practice is exceptionally important to me. You get one on one time with the coaches and it helps you out a lot," says Caitlyn Lee '11. The JV team had a great season only taking one lost against Fairfield. Besides working on their strokes, the swimmers also get a tan that you can be spotted a mile away. " Getting a tan during swimming is great except for the tan lines," says Cathy Guevara '11 . The team puts 110% into their workouts and they bonded together very well and showed the Armijo spirit cheering each other on to the finish!

Badminton

"Fly little birdie!" Badminton is not as easy as it looks. You see it and think that all there is to it is to use a racket and hit a little birdie over a net. However, it is a lot harder than one would think. It takes a lot of arm strength to get the birdie over the net and it takes strategy as well. You have to think one step ahead of your opponent. The girls do a good job of using everything they know to beat the other teams. This game is a relatively fast-paced sport. The girls must put in hours of practice to be considered the best. This year a lot of the players happen to be returnees that have been playing for three or four years. "I wanted to play a sport that most people cannot say they have played. Badminton sounded really interesting and I thought it was worth a try so I just went for it. I didn't know it would end up being so much fun in the end," said Kathlyn Gagosta '10 Armijo is usually at the top of the badminton league. In recent years they have even brought home a few MEL banners, an amazing accomplishment. Hopefully this will be another one to add to our collection.

Men's Tennis

Joey Zink '09 is always a guaranteed victory for the team as number one singles.

With two straight MEL titles, there was no reason for the Men's Tennis team not to expect a third. "We should make it to section finals," said junior Mike Lavell. Men's tennis has been a powerhouse in the MEL for many years thanks to great coaching and a consistent amount of skilled players. But even though the team has always been strong, they still know how to balance work and play. " I love tennis because every one on the team is cool with each other," said senior Suhas Ganjam who switched from swimming to tennis junior year. The great camradery between the players is the greatest factor that contributes to their success and makes them one of Armijo's best teams.

Tyler Welling '09 has been playing golf since he was 8 years old. He's been on the Varsity Armijo Golf team since Freshmen year.

Freshmen sensation Aaron Beverly '12 puts for birdie on Rancho Solano's 2nd hole.

Fore!!! That's one word that every golfer listens for no matter where they are positioned on the golf course. This years' Armijo golf squad has three returning key starters in Tyler Welling '09, Jake Perata '10, and Riley Bishop '11. They hope to build off of last years' tough season ending up winless in the Monticelo Empire League. "So far this year has been awesome, with the addition of Aaron Beverly '12 to round off our Top Four players, our scores have dropped dramatically and we have seen out first MEL win in two years." stated an excited Riley Bishop '10.

Rancho Solano has been the home for the Armijo Golf Team for as long as anyone can remember. With its lush greens an massive sand traps, its a definite favorable course to play on by visiting schools. When Jake Perata '10 was asked about the significance of playing at Rancho Solano's course he responded with, " it is definitley good to have home court advantage, and it helps tremendously to know the in and outs of the course."

Many say the track team is like a family, but for these few athletes it's literal. Sometimes dealing with family members is a bit stressful, imagine how it is being on the same team!

NAME: LaTasha Spriggs
YEAR: Senior
EVENTS: 100 m, 200 m, 4x1 relay, and long jump.
QUOTE: "Running track is like a love-hate-relationship. I love it though because Marion Jones influenced me when I was young and I want to be a runner like her. I will continue running."

The Big Man's Race was the most anticipated event at every track meet. Shot put and discus thrower, Richard Kuidis '09, runs as the team's last leg for the 4x1 relay and he says he loves the adrenaline rush. When asked about how he prepares for his events, he said "The night before every meet, I eat sourpatch kids-only the yellow ones!"

At 3 pm the whistle sounds and within seconds the track is engulfed with the finest, talented, and most hardworking athletes. For the next two hours they will be pushed to their limit as they strive to reach the goals they've set and the goals set for them by the coaches. Blood, sweat, and tears have been shed on the track this season as the head coach, Willie Nickson, pushes every athlete in every event. During a team lecture he imparted some wisdom in his athletes by telling them, "Everyone here has the potential, and it's your job to embrace it. I've been here before. I know it hurts baby, but in the end- it's all worth it. I'm here to win- and every one of you need to have the same mind-set."

Long distance runner, Lauren Davini '09, took his words to heart as she, along with the assistance of her distance coach, Cyrus Norris, broke the 30-year-old school record in the 1,600 meter with a time of 5 minutes, 34.98 seconds. Whether it's breaking school records or personal records, the track team here at Armijo refuses to settle for less than their best. Many on the team agree that the one thing that keeps them going is each other. "We are like a family. We share food (like a family), we make fun of each other (like a family), and in the end we are always there to cheer each other on!" Bridget Carlson '11. The track team is one of the biggest sports team on campus- filled with friendship, great times, and the funniest inside jokes. However, when it comes time to work, these athletes know when to get serious. Nickson always tells his runners, "If you want a different result, you have to do something different!" These athletes pour their hearts and minds into "do[ing] something different," we have not seen the last of them!

Lucky bracelet- $50

Four leaf clover- $5

Winning the game- Priceless

With over 13 sports on campus, each team is bound to have a lucky item, saying or superstition that they believe will help the team perform better. Some athlete's will do whatever it takes to get a victory. Some of the superstitions are simple and something you see everyday, but some are outrageous and things you don't usually see as a superstitions.

Athlete's all do random acts that they believe will give them a win. Lacey Konstantinopoulos '12 wears sweat pants every game while she's in the goal. She said,"I do this because I didn't wear them and we ended up losing to Napa, so now I wear them to every game to help us play better and win." Another unique superstition is Dayshaquie Meyer's '11, she sings the song the sun will come up tomorrow before every game. She said,"I sing this song because it helps me prepare for the game and helps me hit a grand slam."

The history behind superstitions has gone on a long time. They started out as just having a lucky bracelet or three leaf clover to bring you good luck, but now some people don't wash there baseball pants or wear a certain shirt to keep their team winning.

Unique Superstitions...

Before every baseball game, Wilson Hull '11 reads a quote written on the inside of his hat, and spit's in it, to prepare himself for the game ahead.

James Manabuson '09, washes his feet before every track meet, to help him preform better against his opponents. So far it's working for him.

Before every golf match, Tyler Welling '09 uses the bathroom, and then goes and sinks a 3 foot put.

Kristin Russle '12 wears her lucky ring during every softball game when she's pitching. "It helps me play better, for some reason." Said Kristin while talking to her.

Rebeca Ennia '09 wears her lucky necklace with a cross on it before every badminton match. Talking to her she said, "My parents got it for me in the middle east and it's kind of like my good luck charm.

Jonathan Gutierrez '11 doesn't wash his baseball pants for the entire season as a good luck. He said, "I do it because we were winning all our games and my mom made me wash them before our pictures, and the next game we lost, so now I don't wash them for the entire season."

Krissy Garcia '11 wears her matt Garcia memorial shirt while warming up before every home game. She said," I wear it because he used to go to everyone of my home games last year, and wearing it makes it seem like he's still there with me."

Destiny Garcia '09, and Renique Fitzpatrick '10, started the cha-cha before every home basketball game. Eventually the whole team started cha-cha-ing down the locker rooms at every school before every game. Destiny said," The cha-cha is a fun way to bond as a team and pump us up for the big game ahead."

Although the first three years of high school have crept by slowly but surely, it's the last stretch of senior year that seems to fly by. It is this final year in which all of our actions have played a part in who we have become. Throughout these years, we have all taken on tasks and have involved ourselves in activities that have contributed to our own personal identities. Whether it's leading clubs, being the captain of a sports team, or running the entire student body, there were many ways in which we chose to represent ourselves and let our voices be heard.

Earlier this year Fairfield unfortunately lost an amazing councilman, role model and Armijo alumni, Matt Garcia. After the loss our community was heartbroken and with this disaster came the realization that tomorrow really isn't promised, anything can happen and within a few hours a life can be altered or even taken away. Because of the effect Matt Garcia had on our community and specifically our school, the Seniors class of 2009 decided to honor Matt by using his quote for our graduation announcement.

Seniors Class of 2009 Quote:

"I've been thinking about my life and it is not complete, but it is getting there. I thought about the things I have accomplished over the years; it has truly been a blessing. It just shows people when you put your mind to something you can make it happen. I still haven't accomplished everything, but I am working towards it and I believe if it is God's will, it will happen." – Matt Garcia

I wish I knew, coming into high school, that the things you see in the movies aren't real!
-Linda Tran '09

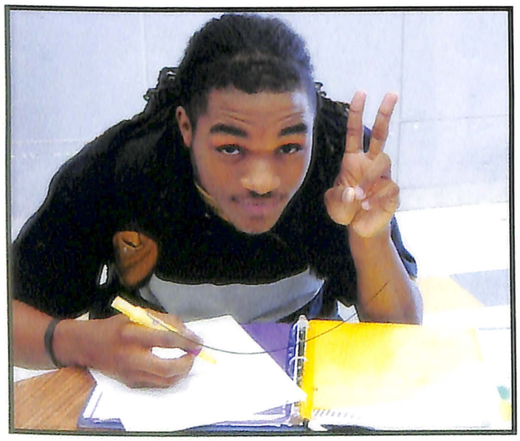

I learned that saving money is really important! I had no idea that senior year was so expensive! Save up!
-Cherael Ross '09

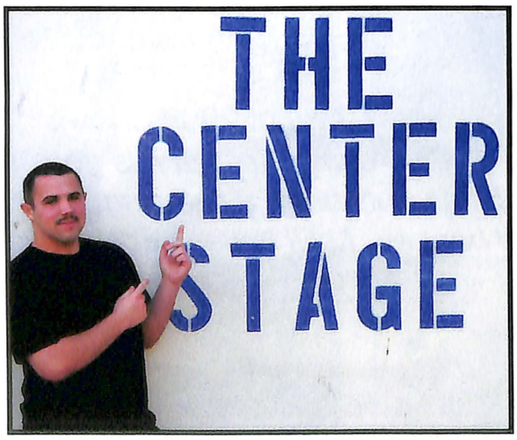

[RIGHT] Senior Justin Hill knows what it takes to be the best. He started high school at a very heavy weight and now stands 75 pounds lighter and that much more stronger. As a preferred walk-on at Sac State, Justin said that hard work DOES pay off and he is glad he worked hard. "You get what you put in!" Justin grunted while lifting.
[BELOW] Jasmine Williams '09 said the most important thing she learned was to not procrastinate!

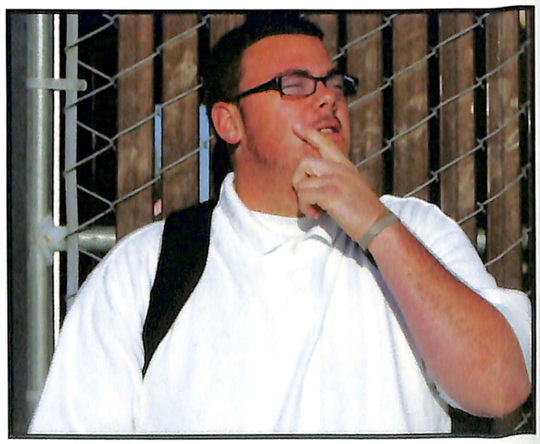

[ABOVE] Senior D'Angelo Johnson has learned over the years to do your work when it's assigned and turn it in when it's due. He enjoys studying now and said that it pays off when you see the A on your test!

[ABOVE] Nick Silva '09 has wanted to be a movie producer since he was a boy. Now as a young adult, it is his job to make that childhood dream a reality. He said he wishes he would've known how much work it was going to take, but he is willing to do what it takes to get there.

[ABOVE] "Don't let bad people influence you, stay focused!" is what Troy Choate '09 had to say when asked about the lessons he learned in high school. He said if it wasn't for him learning that early on, he wouldn't be here today!

The greatest lesson I've learned over the years is to be yourself! Don't try to please anyone.
-Jesse Dahlin 09'

I've learned to just be real & always be a true friend. Keep your friends close and your enemies closer!
-Richard Kuidis '09

More Mature
Lessons Learned

For many, high school is the four most crucial years in one's life. Whether you're an athlete, a bookworm, a musician, an actor, an artist, or a school leader, the past twelve years of schooling has had an impact in shaping who we are today. Believe it or not, those glorious elementary school days and infamous middle school days have determined, for most of us, the type of people we have allowed ourselves to become. Some of the greatest lessons learned are in high school, through trial and error. Many call it "learning the hard way" but even though it seemed terrible back then, many look back now and are grateful for the mistakes made because they have learned from them. Some people however, look back and wish they would've tried something they never gave a chance or taken an opportunity they passed up. For example, senior Jenna Corioso wishes she took up Hawaiian Hula dancing as a young girl. All in all, we will all walk away from this place with lessons that will help us in future aspects- but there are always those lessons we wish were learned sooner than later...

[MIDDLE OF PAGE] Marcus Patterson '09 and Marlon Cowart '09 were close friends throughout middle school but during the first couple months of high school, their friendship slowly deteriorated. With the pressures of high school and other influences, they both allowed a girl to come between them. Marlon said he was sad when their friendship suffered but he learned, "People change and go their separate ways. I wish I knew friendships take work to maintain."
[LEFT] Carmen Cisneros '09 began high school with a very negative attitude towards everyone, especially family. She has learned to be more positive and her attitude has changed tremendously.

The Last Stretch

Earning your identity

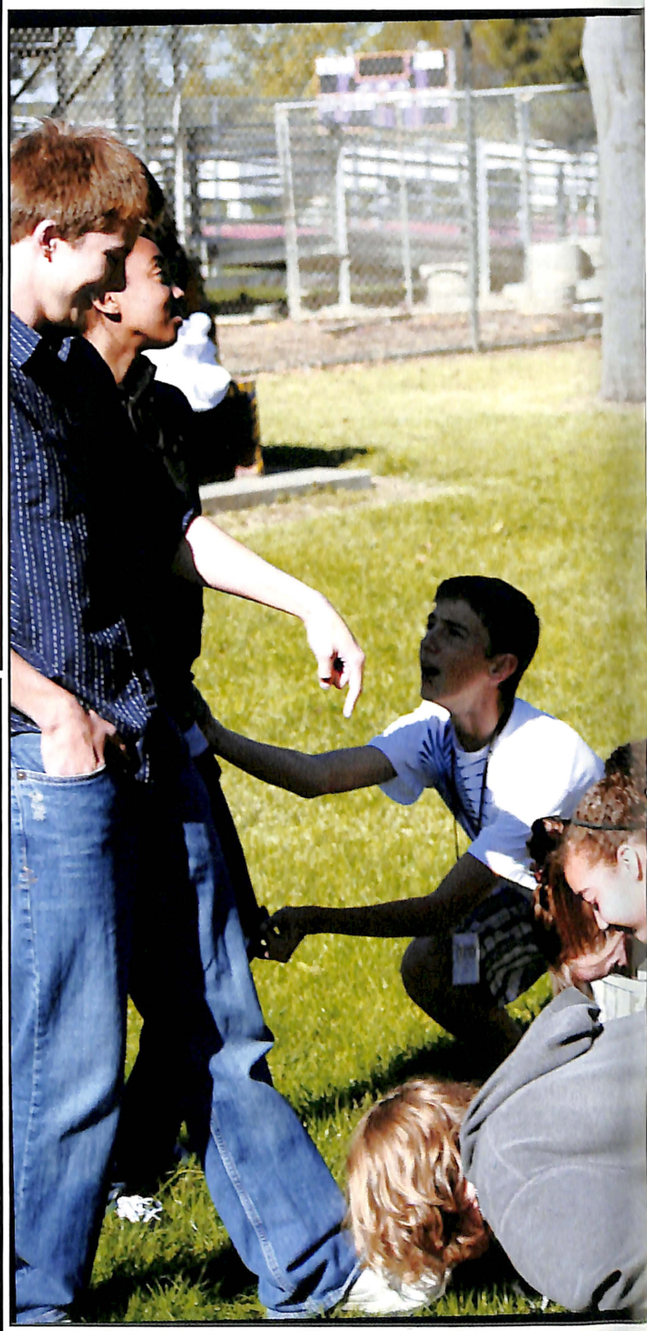

Junior year is a time that stresses IB students out, gets the idea of college in peoples minds, and is usually the first time an athlete has a chance to go to playoffs in a sport. Juniors finally step into their first year as an upperclassmen and have the respect of half of the school. For juniors who decide to go the IB route, junior year is the first year of IB, where classes are more challenging, extra classes have to be taken, and the amount of homework triples each night.

However, junior year is not just stress it's also a year of change and independence. Athletes finally earn their identity by making varsity and helping their team reach the playoffs, something that couldn't be done while on the J.V. team. Juniors also try their best to prove to colleges that they are the best, either academically or athletically. In many ways junior year is the best year for students to finally earn a name for themselves. Page done by: Casey Towner

Top- These juniors own their spot in the hallways at lunch time.
Bottom- The junior float did not show what the juniors had expected in the standings but Ashlie Howland and Zach Braida show how the juniors got down.

Freshman and sophomores will do anything to earn the respect from upperclassmen. Daniel Flynders (12) and Michael Pence (12) bow and kiss to get on juniors Ian Dunkin and Nicole McAllister.

JUNIORS

Junior \Jun"ior\, n. A year in high school to finally earn your name in sports, academics, and colleges minds. A year in which you can start being yourself, because you are no longer worried about what people say. You can have fun and be yourself, you are a Junior!

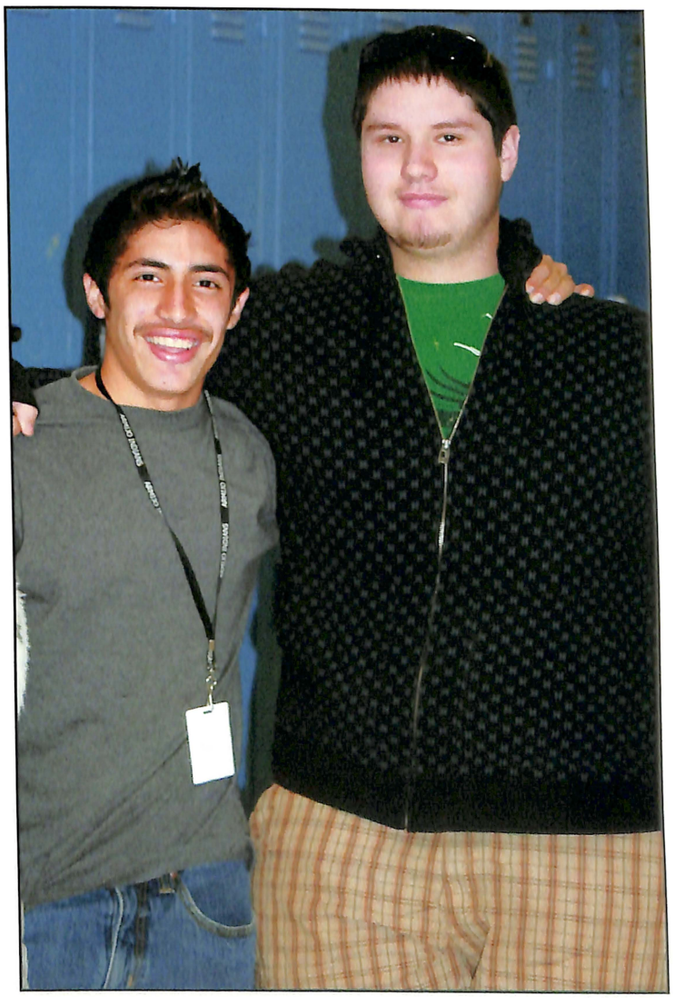

Juniors like Graham Woolf, Michael Lavell, and Mikayla Forkes love to show off their fresh new letterman jackets filled with accomplishments achieved as an underclassmen.

Junior, Pierce Roberts, says "I learned alot this year and I'm excited to lead the team next year as a captain."

CLASS OF 2010 Juniors

'Its fun to be a junior, even though there is so much work and its so difficult. Earning the respect of the underclassmen and playing varsity sports is worth it" says junior Justin Redfearn (left).

See who's got talent!

November 21,2008 Cafeteria:

IB seniors Melissa Herrera and Christina Sandoval were motivated to help out their community and make an impact. Their motivation along with long weeks of hard work and planning lead to the success of the 2nd Child Haven Variety show at the Armijo Caferteria. This was the second year the talent show took place and it was much more successful because not only were there a variety of acts and performances, but Madison parkway opened and closed the show. "Madison Parkway volunteered to do the show and they were amazing! I am really glad they came." stated Christina. All the money raised was donated to the Child Haven organization which prevents and stop the abuse of children.

Underclassmen Part 2

No longer the bottom of the barrel

Freshmen year can be filled with scary and exciting moments as you begin to get the feel for the maddness of high school. Many freshmen come into high school with friends and feelings of middle school still lingering. Sophomore year however is a whole different experience. With a year of high school already under their belt, most sophomores come into this year with a higher level of confidence knowing they are no longer the bottom of the food chain.

Along with a more prominant position in the high school hierchy, sophomores enjoy some additional perks. Many get their licenses and begin driving which introduces much more freedom into their lives. Some show promising talents in sports and are asked to play on the Varsity level. However, when asking students what they enjoy most about being a sophomore, they said "simply not being a freshmen." But no matter how much more experienced they feel, they still have to wait one more year to earn the title of "upperclassmen." Page done by: Jeff Garcia

Top: Sean Bradly (11') challenges himself by taking IB Math Studies, a class usually taken by upperclassmen.

Bottom: Matt Limneos (11') didn't let his sophomore status limit him as he played on the varsity soccer team as well as being one of the cross country team's top runners.

Sophomores Tyler Dunkin and Lizzie Dillman may no longer be the youngest at the school, but they are never too old to stop wearing cute footsie pajamas.

SOPHOMORES

Dylan Jones (11') and Jad Souki (11') are no longer the victims of freshman hazing but make sure they pass on their past experiences.

Jonathan Gomez (11') sported a Porky Pig costume in the sophomore homecoming skit to help them secure the second place spot. That's all folks!

Colton Fitzjarrald (11') looks forward to getting his license and no longer depending on his parents for rides.

Robo Cops

It is a much different scene this year without officers in uniforms patrolling our passing periods and lunches. Our campus monitors made their way back to campus this year after a year long break due to the trial run of our uniformed officers. This year's monitors have a much more expanded role than the officers of old; performing tasks that range from writing kids up for tardies, ids or being out of class without a pass to delivering papers and other items for the office staff.

Our monitors have a variety of personalities. Coach McCampbell, who has been a baseball and football coach on campus for 7 years says that he tries to take a friendlier approach to his job by asking kids, "what's up bud?" whenever he sees them. No matter the reason why, we are glad to have our robo cops back...without the uniform of course!

Class of 2012

So Fresh and So Clean

This years Freshmen unexpectedly did a spectacular job stepping up to the plate. Their lives have changed forever, mostly for the good. The transition from being on top at their previous middle school to dropping back down to the bottom of the scale leaves many incoming freshmen shy and elusive. For many freshmen it is their first time experiencing high school things such as big homecoming football games, It was another first for the girls having to build up the courage to ask their secret boy crush to sadies, May all the freshmen look forward to the next three craziest years of their lives. "A modern high school is made up of young people who have become involved with making a future for themselves here is but a glimpse of that future... the Armijo High Freshmen Class of 2012!" -Anonymous. Page done by: Ryan Parodi

FRESHMEN

Freshmen: (Fresh-muhn) n. 1. a first year student in a four year Aerican college or high school. 2. the youngest kids at armijo high school. 3. reffered to by seniors as small, wimpy, naive, and inmature. 4. small but spirited. the most underestimated class in every school. 5. the class that gets to look forward to three more fun-filled years at armijo.

[Above] Books aren't the only thing on Freshmen Andrew Fuimaono's '12 mind, trying to organize his locker seems to be the task at hand.

CLASS OF 2012 Freshman

There is nobody at Armijo High School that can top the name this Freshmen has named himself, DJ Shag Master.

[Above] These young Freshmen showed Armijo that they weren't too shy to participate in the its first annual Freshmen Olympics.

Madison Parkway

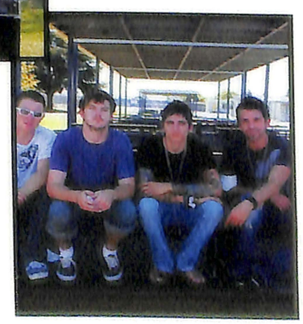

September 4,2008
Lunch Time

On September 4th, lunch time was like no other lunch at Armijo. A huge crowd gathered around the Indian Outpost to see the alternative band, Madison Parkway perform. The music of Madison Parkway has been featured on hit Tv shows such as MTV's "The Hills". "Having a great band like Madison Parkway was great! I would never have imagined them coming to Armijo" stated Melisssa Herrera '09

The band played four songs and afterwards stayed around to take pictures and sign autographs. Their performance without a doubt made lunch worthwhile and an unforgettable experience!

Advice for your success in life and school

It's been four years since they started their journey as freshmen, now they are seniors preparing to graduate. As seniors they know a thing or two about the school, as the top of their class they know a thing or two about a lot of things. With all this knowledge locked up inside of their complex minds, they want to unleash it to all the underclassmen, in order to give them important advice. This is advice anyone can use in order to succeed in school and in life.

" How many cares one looses when one decides not to be something but to be someone."

Coco Chanel

The seniors all get along and are enjoying their last few months of high school.

The Price of Involvement:

Halloween Costume	$50
Students Vs. Staff Supplies	$25
Uniforms	$650

Creating memories with our staff that will last a lifetime. PRICELESS!

Spending over 3 hours at school teaching 5 classes, the teachers on campus are bound to be involved in some activity to bring an end to the monotony of the day. Depending on what their interests are, teachers are involved in various activities outside of the classroom; some teachers decide to coach, some are run clubs on campus and some just get dressed up for Halloween and spirit days. Being involved makes the school day a lot more interesting and makes the day go faster.

This year, the leadership class dedicated their time and effort into planning various activities that involved teachers and students. The first of many successful events was the Students Vs. Staff game, which took place March 6th. The upper classmen made up the varsity team. The teachers and the students played their heart out, but the Staff outlasted the students and defeated the students by one point. In the J.V. game, the underclassmen didn't have much luck, and the staff dominated once again. Each event or activity teachers participated developed a stronger bond with his or her students while creating many great memories.

GETTING INVOLVED!

Dressing Up

Ms. Konstantinopoulos is as cute as a button dressed as a jack-o-lantern.

What makes Mr. Mckinny different from other teachers? He's definitely found his pot of gold at the end of the rainbow and this is apparent as he struts his stuff down C hall dressed as a Leprechaun.

Smith shows off her gothic side on Halloween dressed in all black and as punk gothic as can be.

Mrs. Villanueva is ready to rumble with Mrs. Chiodo by her side to fix any bruises or injuries that may come with the battle.

Mr. Mitchell does Halloween Mrs. Doubtfire style dressed as a beautiful young woman.

The Price of Having fin:

Kite surfing Lessons:	$150
Ballet Classes:	$109
Having a Blast:	Priceless

Have you ever wondered what your teachers are like outside of school? Don't be fooled, the teachers don't just go to work, teach all day, then go home. They spend time doing things that us students also partake in. What do they actually do you may ask? Believe it or not, teachers are a lot cooler than we give them credit for. Take Mr. McKinney and Mrs. Wiseheart for instance. They do some pretty extraordinary things! While in his free time, Mr. McKinney loves to kiteboard, saying, "It's just a fun hobby. People don't realize you can kite surf right here in the Bay Area." Mrs. Wiseheart on the other hand, enjoys the art of ballet. "It's a really good way to get into shape. It's a lot of work, but really fun. What some teachers do outside of school will forever remain a mystery. However, we now have an insight on what some of the coolest teachers on campus do.

Biology teacher Mrs. Wisehart enjoys doing ballet whenever she has a chance. It is a relaxing past time that she truly enjoys.

Feeling the adrenaline rush in the water, Mr. McKiney hits the waves each summer and does spontaneous tricks while kiteboarding. Kiteboarding is a passion Mr. McKiney has and enjoys doing when the weather is right.

Believe it or not, the expensive purse on the left is actually a cake. Ms. Jacob decorates desserts whenever she is not teaching or involved with music.

Driving at full speed, Colonel Stall drives racing cars during the summer. The car going at 100 mph is a great way for Colonel Stall to just forget about the stress of teaching ROTC and just have a blast.

Guess what we do!

Math teacher, Mr. Mikkola enjoys playing the drums whenever he is not busy solving equations.

When Mr. Ona is not teaching math he is rocking on his drums. Mr. Ona's life equation is: Mr. Ona plus drums equals rock and roll!

"Put your smile on!" Mr. Mikkola knows how to have a good time with a couple of friends outside of school including Ronald McDonald!

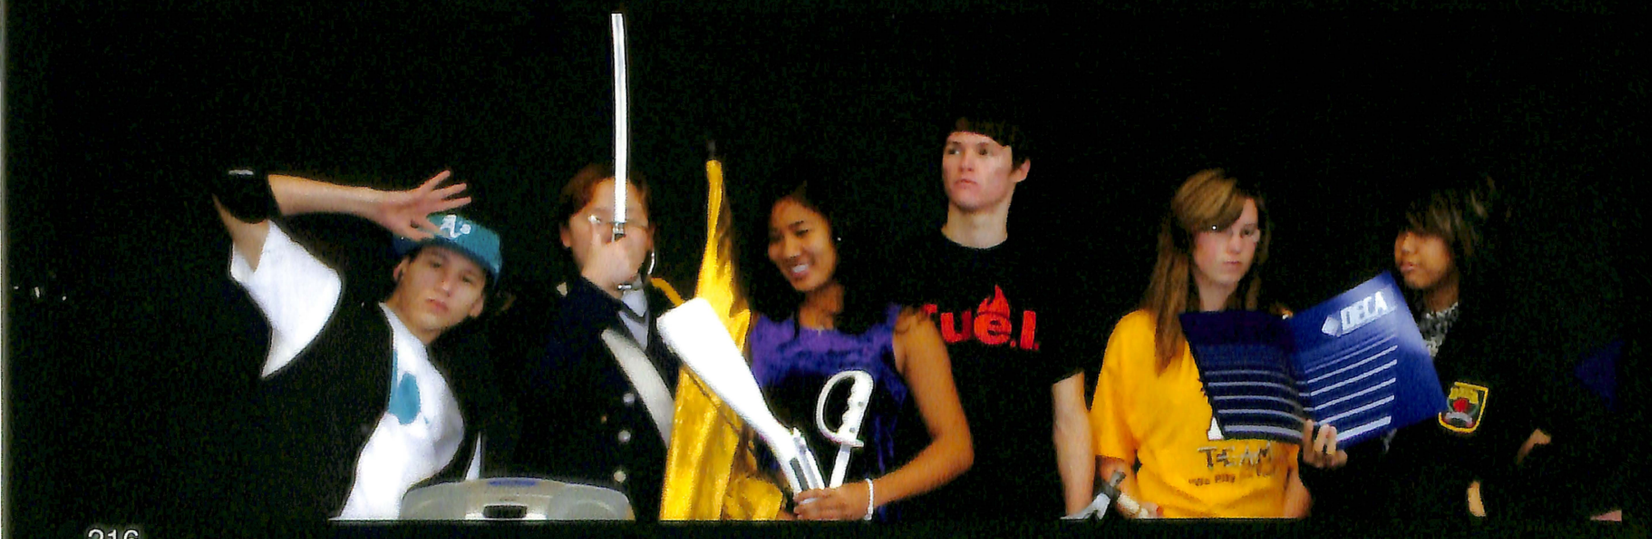

In the snowy Mt. Rainier, Mr. Minler climbs the mountain which is over a thousand feet high. Mr. Minler climbs mountains with his buddies during the summer and is a hobby he enjoys.

Leadership
Taken care of business

With over one-hundred students in the class, leadership has been known the biggest club at Armijo. The dedicated students who are in leadership wake up early every Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday. They not only attend meetings but most of the school sports games and functions. Lauren Davini '09 said, "I don't mind waking up early because I avoid the rush of the people coming to school." The students in leadership are hand selected by Mr. B not only to show leadership but dedication. John Gumataotao '09 said that "Leadership is about taking initiative to get work done."

Tomorrow's Leaders

As The commander walks the line of cadets inspecting uniforms, grooming, and overall appearance, the cadets stand silent and still at attention. Once inspection is over, the cadets must answer questions about their government officials from secretary of state to the secretary of defense.

Every week from Monday to Thursday after school in the annex, ROTC practices formations and with strict discipline leadrship skills and military tactics to prepare those who are thinking of a military career for the future. Every winter, they host the ROTC ball and it's a time where all the students can forget about the rules and discipline for one night. "The best thing about ROTC is the close friendships you make while your in it," says Cadet 1st Lt. Shelby Anderson '09.

Being one of the best ROTC programs in the area, Armijo's ROTC is one big family who are being shaped into tomorrow's leaders.

Soaring above the competition

Team Roster:

Kate Elliot, Ana Booth (captain), Alexandria Diaz (captain), Fou Saelee, Carressa Robinson, Christian Rivera-Cruz, Marissa Lai, Janella Leano, Izabel-Jan Bersola, Brianda Pereira, Roselle Bernardino, Amanda Escalante, Delaina Gambrell, Elizabeth Rivera-Cruz, Taylor Gillespie, Thomas Brown, Ali Utke, Nicole Cooper, Mckenzie Bishop, Angela Hall, Samantha Huckabee

This year proved to be one of the best for our Pageantry Team here at Armijo. Through teamwork and perseverance, they were able to come out on top in every one of their competitions, either placing first in their division or winning sweepstakes which is first in all divisions. However this success did not come easy. The team had to endure back-to-back practices from 3-5 and 5-7 every Tuesday and Thursday. They also had to give up part of their Fridays for practices when competitions were approaching on those upcoming Saturdays. No doubt these time consuming practices helped the performers learn to manage their time. " While being actively involved in tennis and ROTC, I still managed to find time to improve in my dance skills and flexibility which were lacking at the beginning of the year" stated Alexandria Diaz '09. With the lead being taken by captains Ana Booth 09' as well as Alexandrea and instructors Colin Apperson, Audra Perry, and Taylor Ford, everyone was able to stay on track and keep focused together for the competitions ahead. And while the team had amazing chemistry when it came to competing, it was their camaraderie that kept the fun alive. From bus rides to Barbecues, they were able to create an unbreakable bond of trust and friendship. With all of these positive factors going for them, it was no wonder they were able to pull off such a great and unforgettable season.

Christian Rivera Cruz '09:
"Colorguard is a recipe for beauty:
-15% hard work and dedication
-23% practice
-7% perfection
-9% attitude
-21% creativity
-25% dance
-200% blood, sweat and tears"

Creating a yearbook is not all fun and games. Ask any yearbook student what it's like and they will tell you that it's a lot of fun but also a lot of work.

The yearbook class is mostly student run with exception of some help from the advisor Mr. Burzynski. There are two editors -in-chief, which are Janelly Martinez '09 and Rebecca Montgomery '09. Every page that is done has to run by them before it is sent off to the plant to be printed. They oversee all of the other section editors which are Melissa Tong '10 who oversees the Student Life section, Stephanie Diaz '09 who oversees the Clubs section, Ginny Galbriath '09 who oversees the Sports section, John Gumataotao '09 who oversees the Senior section with Courtney B '09, Karissa Chapman '09 who oversees the Ads section, and Caitlyn Lee 11' who oversees the Peoples section. Amity is the yearbook representative. She helps create the page layouts that the students design and put the book together.

"Even though this is my first year, i enjoy the stress of being an editor and learning new things everyday from my wonderful editors-in-chief."

The yearbook class has certain deadlines that pages are due just like in magazines and newspapers "The most stressful part of yearbook is when we have to meet a deadline. It's always super chaotic but we always get things done" quoted Melissa Tong '10 when asked what her least favorite part of yearbook is. But, between deadlines, the class always knows how to make a stressful time into an enjoyable time by throwing parties after deadlines, looking through pictures, and just joking around and having a good time. "Yearbook's so much fun because we all have a sense of humor and know how to have a good time" excitedly stated Joseph Coral '09.

First year student Dree Webster '11 looks at the ladder to find out what pages she is working on and when they will be due to the editors and to the plant.

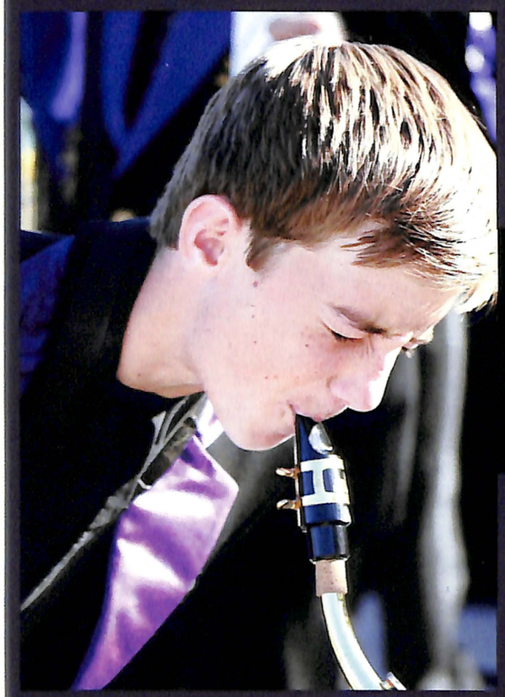

Calvin Monterrosa '09 adds his own personal touches to every page he does. Here he is placing pictures onto his Sadie Hawkins page.

Before their marching performance, the drumline works on their stride lengths and make sure that their sound is an even volume.

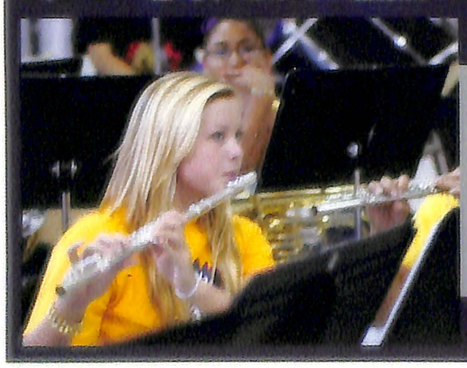

Daniel Flinders '12 comes through laying down a sweet sax tune during warm-ups before a their wind ensemble performance at the Foothill Band Review.

Warming up in a group helps the concert band bring it all together and make sure that everything sounds good and clean.

The tuba's bring in the low notes for the marching band and help to keep the balance of pitches.

Daily practices help strengthen the fundamentals and build the core sound of the concert band. "They're really mundane sometimes, but at other times we lock in and play really well", Alex Charos '12.

TOP: Trombones are almost always the leaders of the marching band, marching out in front that is. Their form and technique is often the most crucial because they are seen first by the judges.

MIDDLE: The Jazz Band performs at the Merced band review. Being the Jazz band, their performance pieces include lively and "hip" pieces.

BOTTOM: Perfect synchronization is what is demanded from the drumline. Stick heights exactly the same height, tune sharp and precise. Think this is hard? Then try marching in time too.

...Meet The Superband.
Armijo High...

A R M I J O. How intimidating is it when you see that coming down the street, preceded by 50 young men and women in uniform. With the brass shining in the sun and plumes blowing in the wind, it's intimidating alright.

"And now, our overall sweepstakes winner is .... Ladies and Gentlemen, I present to you the Armijo High School Marching Band!" This was just one of the six sweepstakes awards won this year; the band excelled at every competition they attended, including being undefeated in the category of Showmanship. "This year has been by far the most successful in many years", Amy Bergam (09) said. "It was really a pleasant surprise." This great fortune did not come without hard work, however. Three-hour evening practices accompanied by countless hours of personal at-home practice helped build this years' winter season into a sensational experience. The Super Band actually consists of several components: Jazz Band, Wind Ensemble, Drum Line and Color Guard. Occasionally falling under the shadow of the Marching Band, they often don't receive all the glory they deserve. Yet, awards were won by all the groups. As told by Bridget Carlson (11), "It's really a huge team effort. We're all supporting each other constantly' it's great.". Despite a shaky start to the year, with incoming players being somewhat experienced, and others just rusty due to lack of practicing, the winter season turned out spectacular. So, through all the 5 a.m. mornings, seemingly endless cans of hair spray, and 2 hour bus rides, it was all worth it to be able to call themselves the Armijo "Superband".

Dixon May Fair's 'round the corner...
Grab your boots and animals!

Rachel Orr '11 was seen here taking a break with her lamb, after exercising with her. When asked what she enjoys most about FFA, she replied, "I love Dixon May Fair season; it's so much fun working with the animals on the farm and getting them all market ready."

Armijo High School features the best Future Farmers of America program there is around. With animals such as pigs, goats, lambs, rabbits, and chickens, there is no stopping the FFA students from milling around the farm, working harder than ever. With the annual Dixon May Fair right around the corner, the students in this program have much to do in order for their specific animal to be plump and ready to go. "I love how this program keeps me so busy," said Virginia Poland '11. Those who join this club have full support for education in the agricultural field. Since 1928, when the program was founded, millions of students have donned the official FFA jacket and championed the FFA creed. It has opened up its doors and arms to everyone, ensuring that students could reap the benefits of agricultural education. "My favorite thing about FFA is that it is a national organization that provides many opportunities to its more than 507,763 student members, aged 12-21 in 7,439 chapters in all 50 states, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands," states Mr. Clark, advisor of the program at Armijo. If you're not afraid of the challenge to raise an animal, and to nurture it along to adulthood, then FFA is the place to be! From cleaning out pig stalls and rabbit cages, to reading and exploring the vast chapters of an agricultural science book, this program has it all. When asked what the purpose of FFA was, Sarah Doolittle '09 answered, "To gain experience in the agricultural field. But also, it is about the leadership, the people you meet, and the friends you will have forever." Page Done by: Caitlyn Lee

TOP: This wildlife animal is an intricate part of FFA. She's a yorkshire pig and her name is Moo, which means pig in thai. "She's stubborn and loves to fight to get what she wants, like food. She's also always pushing me around when I'm cleaning her pen," says Rheanna Dacanay-Rader '11. Rheanna is an active memeber of the program and is dedicated to taking care of her animal.

The students in FFA are so fortunate to have a remarkable and high-spirited advisor. "I believe it is important to set my students up for success by giving them the benefit of my years of life experiences. I care deeply for all my students and want them to be successful and happy," says Mr. Clark.

[LEFT] Megan Hambright '11 was taking a break after caring for her lamb. When asked what she gains from this program, she answered, "You gain life long leadership and public speaking skills."

January 31st, 2009 was a special day for these ambitious FFA members, when they received their greenhand awards. "The greenhand ceremony welcomes the first years into the program and the life long family that it creates," stated Ashleigh Dennis '09. Her last year as an officer in the FFA program as been exceptionally special and rewarding.

Myranda Buensalido '12, has a distinct fondness for her chinchilla. "I love him! He's so playful and fun to mess around with," exclaims Myranda, excited that this is her first year being in FFA.

When asked what her reaction was when she placed second in Sectionals, Zoe Crowder '10 responded, "I was really nervous about how it went. So I was thrilled to have gotten second." From left to right, Zoe Crowder '10, Christine Finnigan '10, Erica Ramirez '09, Tia Rowley '12, Sarah Doolittle '09, and Kathleen Finnigan '12 pose for a picture after the competition.

Key Club
Kiwamis Educating Youth

"We feel good oh we feel so good uhh.. we feel fine all of the time, abooga abooga boga boga" is the signature key club spirit cheer. Having spirit and helping others is what key club is known for. This year the Division 8 Armijo Key Club, teamed up with the local Kiwanis to provide service, build character and develop leadership. "Working with the Kiwanis is great. It is amazing how individuals have such a passion of wanting to improve their community." stated secretary Mailyne Nguyen.

Each Wednesday the devoted Key Club members met in D-7 to discuss service projects such as the annual Crab feed, the Easter egg hunt and the senior citizen prom. The members worked especially hard on the district project of C.A.R.E (Combat poverty, Acknowledge everyday heroes, Reduce global warming, Encourage healthy lifestyle). In order to promote the C.A.R.E service project, Vice President Morgan Stonefelt '09 set a committee in charge of saving Darfur and set up a Benefit concernt in the cafeteria with Madison Parkway peforming. "Since Key Club had a new service project, I introduced my Darfur project in order to get more awareness" stated Morgan. No matter what the Key Clubbers did they made sure they contributed positively to the community while still having fun.

Key Club Mission Statement
"Key Club is an international student-led organization which provides its members with the opportunities to provide service, build character and develop leadership"

In Early Septmber, key clubbers, James Manibusan '09, Nik Iganacio '09 Brian DeSilva '09 John Dodini '09 Kevin Desilva '12 and Jordan Jandreau '09 participated at the Coastal Clean up.The memebers picked up trash and contributed to the community as best as they could.

Committed to helping others

Top: On Valentine's Day the devoted key clubers spent their night dancing with the senior citzens at the Loyalton retirement home at the annual Senior Citizen Prom.
Middle: At their last Key Club Car Wash seniors Brian DeSilva, John Dodini and Jordan Jandreau do their best to promote the car wash and wash as many dirty cars possible.
Left: After making a $300 profit, the key clubbers have a little fun with the water and just interacting with one another.
Right: Working hard, John Dodini, '09 washes one of the smallest cars of the day: Mr. Banks' gulf cart.

Key Club Events

At the first annual Car Wash at Armijo, Khanh Trinh '09, Kelly Chao '10, Kathyln Gacosta '10 and Kate Elliott '09 washed cars for over four hours in order to raise money for Convention. The hard work paid off because the key clubbers were able to fundraise over $300.

The Key Club Convention is the biggest event of the year. The key club members went to Convention April 2008 to learn different leadership skills and to be able to interact with key clubbers from different divisions. "Convention was without a doubt a really great learning experience," stated Lauren Davini '09

The Lucky,Bridget Carlson '11, Lauren Davini '09, Chris Layoso '10, Morgan Stonefelt '09 and Lauren Davini attended a four day convention in Sacramento and had good time attending seminars, participating in ice breakers and dancing the night award at the huge Key club Dance.

On Valentine's Day, Junior Gagandeep Bhullar danced the night away with different senior citizens at the annual Senior Citizen Prom. Senior Citizen Prom is one of the biggest events for the Key clubbers that takes many months to prepare.

A group of Key Club members spent a freezing January night serving salad, pasta, bread and crab at the annual Kiwanis Crab feed. The key club members stayed from 4:00 pm until 11:00 setting up, serving food and cleaning up.

"It is all so much to take in at one time, it is truly amazing," stated Alexis Garner as she walked down the Hollywood City Walk strip.

LEFT: "We all started screaming and running towards the set the instant our tour guide told us where is was from." Keila Marciel '10 The group couldn't resist a picture in a place where the famous actors Johnny Depp and Orlando Bloom had stood in the movie, "Pirates of the Carriebean; Curse of the Black Pearl"

"It was amazing to see a school that focused on acting and music; it opened up our options for the future." The AMDA tour was not disappointing for Monish Anand '10

Even when given the least amount of time to prepare, Jose Santos '09 prevailed and ended up being one of the most interesting characters. Though difficult at most times, Jose worked hard to keep the production alive.

"The cast always gets along, we truly become one big family. It's what we do. " States Ranya Aquino '10 about each and every production that the Armijo Drama Club produces.

TOP: Even a twelve-minute escalator ride did not diminish the enthusiasm of the drama club as they ventured down to "The Mummy" ride in Universal Studios, Hollywood.
TOP LEFT: The roles within "Arsenic and Old Lace" were very difficult to master; but the cast member rose up to the challenge. "It was the hardest part i ever had to pull off. It definitely was a learning experience." Hillary Wysocki '09
TOP RIGHT: The "officers" drink tea in the dining room of the Brewster house. If only they knew that just a couple feet away there lay a dead Mr. Hoskins waiting for the services to be help. "It can't be very comfortably for him in there the poor dear!" exclaims Abby Brewster BOTTOM: Drama Club meets every Thursday at lunch to discuss upcoming productions and other news. "I like the improvisational games that we get to play sometimes; it's nice to let loose during school." Sologne Patterson '11.

"I regard the theatre as the greatest of all art forms, the most immediate way in which a human being can share with another the sense of what it is to be a human being." -Oscar Wilde

Armijo Drama Club Presents...

The Center Stage

With bright lights and the pressure turned up high, everybody stares and expects something out of you when you walk out on stage. However for some, this feeling, this rush of adrenaline is like an addiction. These unique people come together and put on amazing productions that they can be proud of. They are known as Drama Club members and each and every one of them has an important job within the club. From the cast members to the tech crew, Armijo's productions would not be possible without each members' hard work. Though at times deadlines can be stressful and lines can be difficult to memorize, they all know its worth it- walking up on stage with their head held high to say the lines that they have been studying for over eight weeks.

Drama Club was not always very functional however; for over three years the Drama Club has been trying to build itself up from scratch. The turning point within the Drama Club over the past year was without a doubt adding a "black box" theatre into the and dubbing it "The Center Stage."

"You made all the delicate, inner parts knit me together in my mother's womb.

Thank you for making me so wonderfully complex!
Your workmanship is marvelous-and how well I know it.
You watched me as I was being formed in the utter seclusion.
You saw me before I was born.
Every day of my life was recorded in your book.
Every moment was laid out before a single day had passed.
How precious are your thoughts about me, O God!
They are innumerable!
I can't even count them, they outnum-

And when I wake up in the morning,
you are still with me!"

We love you so much and are so rpoud of the young man you have become!

Always remember Proverbs 3:5-6 "Trust in the Lord with all your heart and lean not on your own understanding; in all ways acknowledge Him and He will make your paths straight."

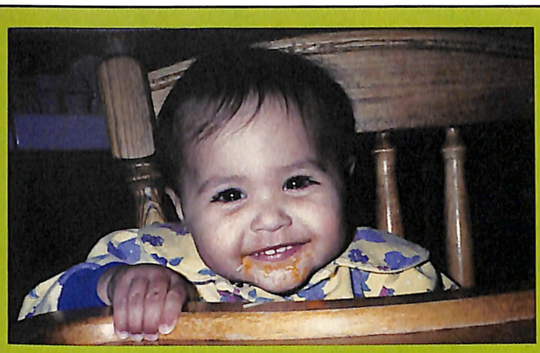

Love Dad, Mom, Matt, Papou, Nain & Smokey!

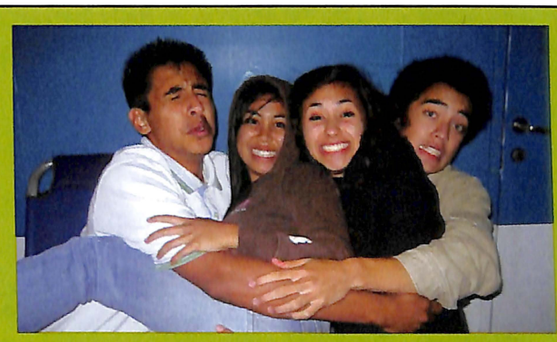

Dani Zumpano

Scientists say that half the Universe is composed of Dark Energy. But there is no dark energy surrounding you, my dear. You fill all of space with light, sparkle and fire. You are a diamond. While other stones may reflect the light, you transform the light into a playful dance that catches everyone's attention. There will be those who are captivated by this brilliance and fail to see the toughness that is the greater part of your substance. Surround yourself with those who perceive your greater strengths and look past the glitter and into the soul. Diamonds are formed under extreme heat and pressure. As such they remain at ease when other stones fracture. And yet, a diamond may be cleaved by weaker materials if struck precisely along two lines: the heart-line and the ego-line. Seek those friends that are strong enough to shield you from blows that would reach inside, and you will find that your heart and character will always shine.Diamonds are forever, and you will forever be our Dani-bear.

Hillary Wysocki

To our beautiful daughter, Hillary
Through high school, you have experienced various trials and tribulations.
The work you performed in both school and extra curricular activities has been exemplary.
Excellence is personified through your "can do" attitude and the belief that satisfactory work is not enough.
These are traits of a true leader.
As a young adult you will have more challenges that will bring out the best in you.
We take comfort in knowing that you will do well!
A person is measured by their integrity, courtesy, and respect...all of which you have. Remember to be a good role model for those who look up to you. We love you,

Molly ♥ Ashleigh

AshleighLane,

"My thoughts toward you are countless as the sand on the seashore." (Psalms 139:17-18) How can I describe our friendship? You are, and always will be, my favorite B word, the one who I experiment my awesome hair skills on, and make cinnamon crunch treats with. We have made so many memories together, all of which will last me a lifetime. You have been like a big sister to me. We love acting stupid together, and we were born to finish each others sentences. I hope for the very best for you in the bright future that lies ahead. You are extremely amazing, awesome, crazy, loud, and goofy girl, and the best friend a girl could ever ask for. I have learned so much from you, and I hope that I will continue to do so as we grow and develop into the adults we've always dreamt of. And, of course, I can't wait to make many more crazy memories with you in the years ahead!! Don't ever let anyone or anything get in the way of your future, and always let your true self shine brightly on those around you.

I love you with all my heart.
-Mollyrae

MollyRae

You are my best friend, my unbiological sister, and my other half. Whenever I need a shoulder to cry on, someone to talk to, or just someone to have fun with you are there. I don't know what Id be doing or where Id be today without you. We haven't been friends forever but in the last 2 years you have made a lasting impression on me and I feel like I've known you forever. I can't even imagine how boring and different my life would be if you weren't in it. You have shown me that being myself, no matter how crazy it may be, is better than being someone I'm not. You understand me even at my most complicated times; we have become such good friends that we can finish each other's sentences. There is a special place in my heart for you that no one will ever be able to replace; you have forever left your mark on my heart.

Mucho Grande Amo

Jessica Santos ♥

Jessica,

It seems like it was just yesterday that Grandma & Grandpa referred to you as my little suitcase. Every day it was Barney and some Disney song from one of the many movies we had to watch over, over and over. Now your all grown up, it's music blaring in the bedroom, computer room or family room. We thank God every day that we were blessed with a daughter as wonderful as you. We imagined what a great person you would be when you grew up and our dream came true. The whole family is very proud of you and all your accomplishments; earning your 1st degree black belt, honor roll from junior high to high school, cheer, being a wonderful daughter, granddaughter and a role model for your little sister. We always knew you could accomplish anything when you put your mind to it. Remember, the people that influence you are the ones that believe in you and love you, your family! Congratulations sweet heart!

We love you! -Mom, Dad, Kristina, Grandma & Grandpa

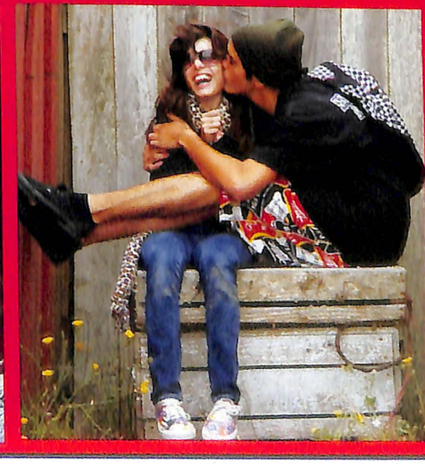

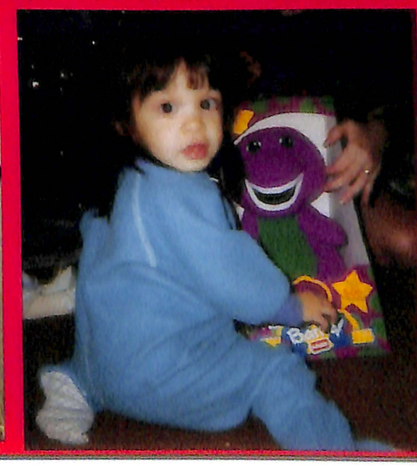

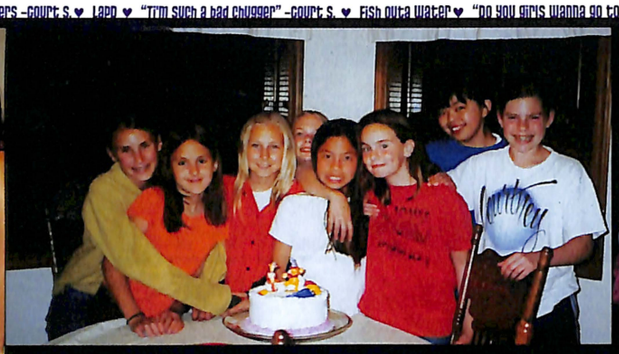

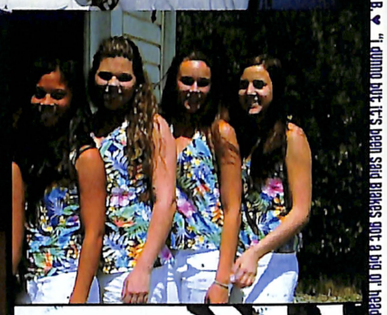

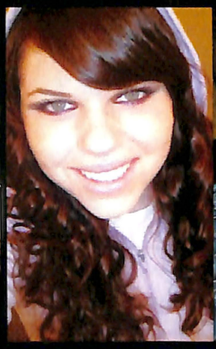

C3M

8 Years & Counting

COURTNEY S. COURTNEY B. CHRISTIAN MORGAN

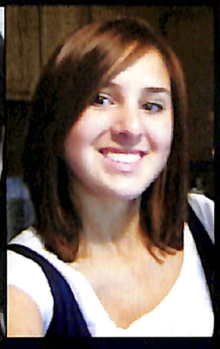

Courtney, Christian, Morgan, these past eight years have been filled with many memories; some good, some bad, but through all the negative, the positive shines through. Countless inside jokes, photographs, heartfelt notes, and good times are all the things that run through my head whenever I think of C3M. You all have helped shape me as the person I am today and have been here for me through thick & thin. Its been a long run so far and I can only hope that down the road it gets better because you all are way more to me than bestfriends; you are my SISTERS and no matter who, what, when, or where, I am going to be here for you all because when we created our relationships with one another we said for life. I love you all very much and couldn't be more proud to call you my bestfriends and graduate with all of you one last time. Love always and forever, Tort.

Ladies ladies ladies. Well shoot it's been so long huh? Well i gotta tell you I love you girls like a fat kid loves cheese (i don't like cakey. But really. Words cannot express how much you girls matter to me. I will never forget our late night deep conversations with Christian, slip-n-sliding with Morgan, drives to no where with Court, it's memories like this that will last forever. We all write such sappy things to eachother but it's the truth. I love you all more than i can describe. You have all always been there for me no matter what and have made high school enjoyable and worth while. People can only hope and TRY to be as close and as amazing as we are. I will always be here for you forever no matter what the case. As June 5th continues to creep upon us more and more our departure continues to creep as well. I wish you all the best and I know we will keep in touch I love you guys

Courtney Pookie Bee

Courtney B, Morgan & Courtney S; its been 8years since we've practically gotten married and I wouldn't change anything about it. Our relationships have been rocky but through it all, I can honestly say that you are all blessings from God. Without the support that you've provided me when I've been down and out, I know I wouldn't have made it here todayas as such a strong person that I am today. I just want you all to know how extremely thankful and blessed I am to have you in my life. God bless and Lylas -Christian Ka'ua Molina

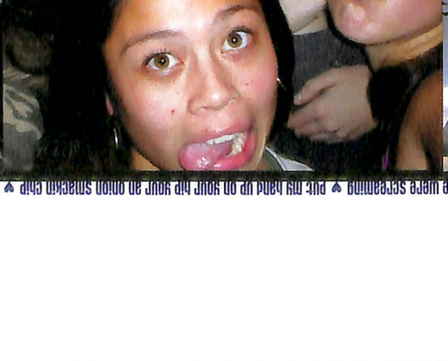

Chicas it's been 8 years for us together "ups & downs" it such a cliche so i'll consider it all UP because no experience has been more rewarding than our friendship. No matter how long we stay close or in contact, the fact is you've impacted the formative years of my life and its shaped who i am today. Because of all of you i survived awkward middle school and learned how to express myself. Your influence has allowed me to go through life choosing the right friends and making the right choices. I LOVE YOU GUYS! -Morgan

Christiana Briscoe

Christiana Briscoe

You are the Baby Sister of this family, and the next big step in your adventure called life is about to begin. I am so proud of all that you have accomplished and endured throughout your school years and now I get to see you graduate!!! You are our future and you still have many great things to accomplish. So dream big, cast away all fear, and know that change is inevitable but suffering is optional! Always know that I love you with all my heart, and that I will always have your back.

Love You This Much, MOM

Ending

Though many people claim to never truly find their identity within their lifetime, the fact is that everything you do defines who you are; everything you hear and see influences who you are going to become. High school is one of those rare places where you have countless opportunities to define yourself by choosing to participate in certain activities and hanging out with specific friends. Through doing these things you are unintentionally forming your future identity to live your life by.

Dear Janelly & Becca,

We as Editors and Staff Members would like to thank you for everything you have done this year for our book. You are two of the sweetest most dedicated girls who gave up a lot of your time working on the book. With the "A List" attitude for the "Journey that Lies Ahead" we hope you've found your "Identity" to make a name for yourselves. We love you girls! Yearbook won't be the same without you girls next year.

-Love Forever & Always, 2008-2009 Yearbook Class

"Identity: Making a name for yourself", was the theme for this 2008-2009 yearbook. This theme was chosen to demonstrate how unique each student at Armijo is and how they identify themselves among such a large group of students. The editors developed the theme of the book during the Summer of 2008 at the Luxurious Forest Suites Resort in Lake Tahoe. The 284 pages are in full color for the fourth year in the row. Herff Jones produced 900 copies of our book in Logan, Utah; the number of the book was 7042. At the beginning of the year, the price was $65 if it was bought with an ASB card. Amity, our Herff Jones representative, along with the editors and a series of Herff Jones artists designed the cover, index, title page, opening pages and dividers. With the help of Collegiate Photography in Vacaville along with the digital pictures and hard copy photos, the yearbook pages were composed.

We want to give a HUGE thank you to everyone who helped in the making and assembling of this book. Thank you to all the faculty for allowing us to pull students out of class for interviews and pictures. We also want to thank Mrs. Wolf for helping us mange the yearbook money, Coach Dahl for providing us with all the sports rosters and answering all our Sports questions and Mr. Summers for providing us with some great photos. Major thanks to last year's Editors in Chief Natalie Wilson and Rebecca Brown and last years HJ representative Deana. You guys taught us a lot and guided us in the right direction.

This yearbook is dedicated to the Class of 2009. Throughout the four years of high school we have had numerous positive and negative experiences. These experiences have shaped the type of person we are and our identity. As we leave this school we should have made a name for ourself in some way and found our identity. The end of our high school years is just the beginning of a life and the beginning of finding our name and place in society.

Editor in Chief-
Janelly Martinez aka J-Smelly (thank you Jeff Garcia for such unique nickname)

Making this yearbook was such a great, successful experience, but it would not have been possible without the help of many individuals. I owe great gratitude and appreciation to:

Mr. B- Thank you for every single thing you did for the editors and the class, from looking up students on SASSI to lecturing us about disappearing cameras, to staying late and not going to golf or your St. Mary's basketball game to just being there for the stressful deadlines.

Amity D- I truly appreciate all the time you spent making our last minute layouts, helping with our memorable Ad experience, and solving our Indexing woes. Our yearbook would not have been possible without all your input and In Design talent. Thank you sooo much!

Becca M- My other editor in chief- Thank you for supporting my perfectionist qualities and being able to handle my OCD when it came to making everything right. Thanks for being someone I could count on and rely on whenever I needed help.

Courtney, Caitlyn, Ginny, John, Karissa, Melissa, Stephanie- You guys were AMAZING editors and I am thankful I had the opportunity to work with such a great group. Thanks for being on top of things and making my job a thousand times easier. Most importantly thank you for keeping me calm when deadline came and just being there for me.

The Yearbook Class- Thank you for being a great staff! You guys did a great job and I really appreciate all the time you guys dedicated to putting this book together. Thanks for listening to my mini deadlines and all my announcements.

Editor in Chief- Becca M.
I am so very proud of everybody who made this book possible. Though this journey has been long and hard, not one person on this staff gave up when the going got tough and for that I am eternally grateful.

Mr. B, you always had the answers, which I suppose is your job. But thank you for getting the class in shape and helping us with all of our decisions; the yearbook class would not be as successful without you by our sides.

Amity D you are the best representative a school could ask for. You came in when we had our technical difficulties and brain-farts and for that we cannot thank you enough.

To Janelly, miss super-editor-in-chief, thank you so much for standing my hectic and annoying schedule; I can't believe after this long and sometimes stressful journey we have created such an amazing book.

Special thanks to our editing staff who helped with decisions and kept the staff working hard when we were unavailable.

Melissa, as a first year editor you rose to our expectations and then some; Ginny, for the second year in a row the sports section is near perfection thanks to you; Stephanie, you were always available to help out an editor in need and any staff member who had a question; Courtney and John the senior section had to make a lot of decisions and you made them easily and didn't leave anyone stressed; Karrisa, you flawlessly completed countless assignments thrown at you; Caitlyn, and I can't wait to see what you bring to the book next year.

Next to the staff of the 08-09 yearbook; you are all hard workers and amazing people. Thanks for putting up with my countless announcements and always getting your work done (better late than never haha.) You all surprised me with your talents (in a good way) and I cannot thank each of you enough for you dedication and time.
